City employe strike enters second week

BY HENRY CANTIN

The strike against the City of Romulus by its employees, members of Local 214, Teamsters, State, County and Municipal Workers, has entered its 12th day Monday.

Negotiations between the city and union officials are continuing around-the-clock this week in efforts to reach agreement on an employment contract covering between 50 to 60 employees.

Negotiators, along with members of the Romulus City Council and the state mediator met for six hours last Friday and again all day on Monday in attempts to reach an agreement. It was reported that little progress was made.

Mayor Hyle J. Carmichael, spearheading the marathon sessions, reported an all-out effort is being made to settle differences between the parties. He said current talks are endeavoring to clarify the positions of both sides on some of the issues involved in the labor controversy for presentation this week to the city council and union leaders... City hall is remaining open on a limited basis during the strike. Supervisory personnel and non-union employees are handling city hall services.

Referendum set on airport plan

BY HENRY CANTIN

A referendum vote to procure the official views of Van Buren Township voters on the proposed $100 million expansion of the Willow Run Airport has been approved unanimously by the township board.

The special airport advisory vote will be conducted along with the May 16 presidential primary ballot.

The proposed airport expansion has been a major controversy in Van Buren Township since its announcement by the Wayne County Road Commission in February, 1971.

The road commission, owners and operators of the Detroit-Metropolitan Airport, is seeking to expand Willow Run Airport into the world's largest air cargo airport and as a reliever to the Detroit-Metropolitan Airport.

The township board has taken an official position by adopting a formal resolution opposing the airport expansion. Township Supervisor G. Elton Gollwitzer, who is spearheading the township's fight against the proposed expansion, urges an all-out vote on the special advisory ballot.

In commenting on the referendum vote Gollwitzer stated "we would like to have the community's thinking on the airport expansion on record in the event a court case ensues."

The proposed airport expansion will take a quarter of the township, Gollwitzer reports. It would take 1,850 acres of township land, plus more than 700 homes, business sites, factories and two schools, in addition to the Van Buren Township Hall.

At the request of the supervisor, the township board has hired an additional attorney to handle just the township's battle against the airport expansion. He is Ann Arbor Attorney Karl R. Frankena of the law firm of Conlin, Conlin, McKenney and Meader.

Frankena also is president of the Ann Arbor chapter of Sierra Club and is "quite knowledgeable" on the airport's expansion proposal, Gollwitzer stated.

Frankena has been instructed to draft the wording of the airport advisory vote as well as the wording of a referendum also to be voted on May 16 on the establishment of a Building Authority to own, operate and develop Belleville Lake.

The supervisor reported the township is seeking the transfer of Belleville Lake from its owner, the Detroit Edison Co. (see story on the lake transfer elsewhere in this issue).

Gollwitzer added he felt the lake question was related to the airport as the proposed expansion would have a tremendous effect on Belleville Lake.

Romulus seeks demolition bids

Bids for the demolition of 26 unsafe and uninhabitable structures located within the City of Romulus are being requested by the Romulus City Council.

Sealed proposals on the demolition program must be filed with City Clerk Leonard J. Folmar by 5 p.m. March 28. The bids received will be opened before the council at its March 28 meeting.

Contract documents can be examined at the city clerk's office, located at 11111 S. Wayne Rd., Romulus. The city reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

The owners of the properties slated for demolition will be given 10 days to start private demolition proceedings and to complete the demolition within a 45-day period.

Upon failure to do so, the city will initiate demolition and assess the demolition cost against the property.

The structures termed by the city to be nuisances and hazards to the public welfare and safety are located at:

6670 Ball Rd., 33335 Beverly Rd., 8664 Dodge St., 29784 Ecorse Rd., 36001 Eureka Rd., 35708 Goddard Rd., 36075 Goddard Rd., 36095 Goddard Rd., 37128 Goddard Rd., Harrison Road, North of Goddard Rd., 12712 Harrison Rd., 16900 Huron River Dr., 6892 Inkster Rd., Kemps and Ecorse

Ros., 7126 Kempa St., 14107 Middlebelt Rd., 50243 Smith Rd., 11095 Wahrman Rd., 12494 Wahrman Rd., 6227 Wayne Rd., 36279 Vinewood, 36287 Vinewood, Cypress and Hunt Street, 35902 Beverly Rd., 35709 Ecorse Rd., and a structure on Hunt Street.

Revival services scheduled

The World Challenge Evangelistic Team from Nashville, Tenn. will begin a series of revival services at 7:30 tonight (Wednesday) and continue through March 5 at the Church of God of Prophecy, 7201 Kempa St., Romulus.

The World Challenge Singers have appeared in singing concerts with the top gospel singing groups in America. The manager of the group, the Rev. Ronnie Hamm, who is now devoting full time to evangelism, is a former member of the Imperials, their organization's leading soul-winning group.

The public is invited to attend these services each evening by pastor Benny Hart.

SCIENCE FAIR EXHIBIT — Brenda Peters (right), 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse L. Peters of 34920 Eureka Rd., Romulus, displays her entry in the Romulus Junior High School Science Fair held last Saturday at the school. Brenda's entry was a barometer that won second place honors. The students with Brenda are (from left) Mike Dickinson, John Swazey and Gerald Schneider. Brenda says she would like to become a science teacher.

Romulus ousts Taylor; Huron falls to Carlson

A late-starting Romulus quintet broke loose in the second half and walloped Taylor Kennedy 74-55 in the first round of Class A district play at Romulus High School last night.

The victory enabled Coach Dave Court's Eagles to move into the semi-finals Wednesday when they will meet Wayne Memorial.

"They're tough," said Court of his semi-final opponents.

"We know that they have beaten some real fine ball clubs this year so we'll have to be ready for them."

Kennedy proved stubborn in the first two quarters as Chuck Hekey kept the visitors abreast, 19-14, the first eight minutes. Romulus started to come to life in the second frame thanks to a balanced attack and a tenacious defense which eventually allowed only 18 field goals for the night.

Romulus turned the tide after enjoying a 32-29 halftime edge. The Eagles outscored their rivals 21-12 in the third quarter to pull out of danger for good 53-42.

Four Romulus starters put in double figures with junior forward James Hall's 24 points standing up as tops for the game. Teammate John Long sank 18 while Calvin Harris and Tony Owens, up with 14 and 13 points, respectively.

Tonight newly-crowned Mid-Wayne champ, Inkster, will meet Taylor Center for their first test at Romulus. The Vikings have faced Taylor twice this season and won both games convincingly.

The winner of the Inkster-Taylor Center game will meet Westland John Glenn on Thursday and the championship will be decided on Saturday.

All games are at 7 p.m. In Class B competition, host New Boston Huron dropped a 91-78 decision to Carlson and was eliminated in the first (Continued on Page 3)

Secret witness plan approved

An ordinance to establish a secret witness plan to encourage citizens to relay information they might have regarding criminal acts within Romulus has been approved by the Romulus City Council.

The ordinance, the first of its kind for the city, provides for monetary rewards for such information and establishes specific methods for providing information and receiving rewards.

The rewards will be paid on the basis of $100 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of any persons perpetrating a crime of stealth or destruction of public or private property, and $50 for the arrest and conviction of persons committing offenses of littering.

Persons submitting information are to turn in a written unsigned statement. This statement must contain the name and address, if known, of the alleged offender together with the time, date and location of the offense and a brief summary of the information the secret witness may possess.

For the purpose of later identification, the person supplying such information is asked to place a seven digit number in the upper right hand corner of the statement he submits.

The secret witness also is asked to submit a sealed envelope containing on its face the same seven digit number that is on his statement and enclosed in the sealed envelope his name, address and telephone number.

Upon receipt of such information, the city will turn over to law enforcement officials the information and retain the unopened envelope containing the same identity number on the front. This envelope will be kept in a safe, secure place.

In the event the information given by the secret witness

Lenten season

The following is the third of a series of Lenten Sermons by area pastors and leading churchmen. This week's article was submitted by Rev. J. Charles Dibley, pastor of the Belleville First United Methodist Church.

By REV. J. CHARLES DIBLEY

Our Lenten watchword - "Jesus of Nazareth passeth by"

Let us think of Jesus coming very near to the life of each parish this Lent. Some will be conscious of having been touched by the Great Physician and will try to live a godly and "Christian" life. Others this year, will be called of Christ and give themselves for confirmation and church membership in His Name.

Others again, heedless, careless and indifferent. To all such may these words ring in their ears: "Jesus of Nazareth passeth by."

The coming of the blessed Master into our life presents to us a great and wonderful privilege. Let us then, during this Lenten Season, avail ourselves of this inestimable blessing by:

1. Uniting of Christians of various denominations in fellowship and understanding.

2. Being present in public worship: "The Lord is in His Holy Temple."

3. Catching a vision of the Lord's face in frequent communion, in prayer and Bible reading, in loving service.

4. Keeping strict watch over your lips. Let self-examination be a daily duty.

5. Having a daily prayer list. Try to share your faith and to win new disciples to Jesus Christ.

"Jesus of Nazareth passeth by." Let us make this our Lenten watchword. Let us call to Christ and tell him our needs, let us remember he may never pass this way again. As we repeat these words every day in Lent, let us add this little prayer:

"O Come to my heart Lord Jesus!

There is room in my heart for Thee."

Transportation to polls offered

In order to promote better voter turn-out at the polls during the current school millage renewal campaign, the Romulus Jaycees have initiated a project to help persons get to the polls.

The Romulus Community School District is seeking approval of a 10-mill renewal levy that is expiring with this year's school property tax collection in a special election scheduled for March 13.

The Jaycees will be scheduling rides for those persons who can not otherwise obtain transportation on election days. Rides must be arranged by contacting the Jaycees on March 13 (election day) between 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. only.

Requests for assistance prior to that date can not be scheduled. Calls must be made through the United Methodist Church of Romulus by dialing 941-0736.

The success of this project is totally dependent upon supply and demand for rides, the

WOW! WHAT MAGIC — The Romulus Public Library sponsored a magic show for area children last Saturday morning at the library. "Keith the Conjuror" entertained the children with a wide variety of tricks and illusions. From the expressions on the faces of the children, the magic show was not only fascinating, but held many of the children spellbound. It was the first performance for the magician in the City of Romulus.

BELLEVILLE SKIER WINS — Two Belleville families and their children enjoy refreshments at the Boyne Highlands Ski Lodge. Steve Haveranek (third from left) won second place in the men's slalom races held recently at the skiing resort.

Incumbents re-elected to top PCHA posts

The Peoples Community Hospital Administration had an easier time of it last night than expected when the four incumbents in the top spots were re-elected.

Several members apparently jumped to the pro-administration side as Donald J. Pizzimenti, chairman for the past six years, was reappointed by a four-vote margin. He just squeaked by the past two years with one vote to spare.

Also re-elected were Marlett D. Inman of Dearborn Heights as vice chairman, Hiram McNeeley, former 10-year veteran of the State House of Representatives who represents Inkster, as secretary, and Roger J. Remer of Flat Rock as treasurer.

The anti-administration faction deserted outspoken critic Tracy E. Salisbury, member-at-large from Ecorse, as its challenger to Pizzimenti. It instead pulled a dark horse into the running by nominating William Gagnon, former board member from Ypsilanti Township who had just minutes before been voted back on the board as a member-at-large.

The administration backers' attempt to get treasurer Roger Remer elected as a member-at-large failed, although they did get John L. O'Brien, of Wayne re-elected to another four-year term in that capacity.

O'Brien polled 20 votes along with Gagnon, while Remer and incumbent Roy A. Berger each received 19 votes. Berger and O'Brien were the only members-at-large whose seats were up for election.

The board's pro-administration faction had hoped to get Remer in as a member-at-large, thus giving Flat Rock a chance to name a replacement and give the board another pro-administration backer.

Gagnon was then nominated from the floor to run against Pizzimenti, who topped him with 25 votes to Gagnon's 21. All 46 board members were present last night, but members-at-large were not eligible to vote in the member-at-large election.

Gagnon, Ypsilanti Township supervisor, resigned from the board 10 months ago because of the "constant consternation and argumentation" which has plagued it.

"I didn't feel I could be effective," Gagnon said last night, adding that when he left he had just been elected township supervisor and felt he needed time to become accustomed to his new job.

Gagnon said he decided to run for chairman because the board had been divided so long under the present leadership and he felt it "isn't going to get any better."

He had been on the board for nine years before quitting.

Remer was re-elected by acclamation after Brancho Gegich of River Rouge withdrew his name. McNeeley, who will serve his fourth year as board secretary, was re-elected 29-17 over John Trellay of Trenton, who was removed from the board last year. The secretary's position is the only one which could go to a non-member of the PCHA.

Two seats on the board's three member executive committee had to be filled, since Wayne Mayor Patrick Norton decided against running for one of the spots again and Westland Councilman Mrs. Justine Barnes was removed from the PCHA board by the Westland City Council.

Nominated by the board's nominating committee, which had also placed in nomination the names of all the incumbents, were Russell V. White of Lincoln Park and Dale D. Hoover of Westland, the only one of three Westland PCHA board members who wasn't recently removed.

Nominated from the floor to run against them were Roland W. Arnold of Southgate and James Cunningham of Allen Park. Hoover and Cunningham won with 24 votes each, while Arnold received 23 and White 21.

The third member of the executive committee is chairman Pizzimenti. The committee is responsible for serving when the board does not function, such as during the summer months and in emergencies.

The board's Medical Advisory Committee was expanded from seven to nine members, and the following doctors were elected to that committee by acclamation: P.J. Wicht and F.B. Taylor, both of Beyer Memorial Hospital; H.H. Handorf, D.J. Largo and G.J. Strachnov all of Annapolis Hospital; M.M. Kazdan and T.A. Tenaglia, both of Outer Drive Hospital, and R.W. Rebandt and J.W. Hillyer, both of Seaway Hospital.

Romulus senior chosen for touring wind band

Miss April G. Forintos, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Forintos of 36180 Pennsylvania Rd., Romulus, has been accepted for membership in the United States Collegiate Wind Band.

The band is a select musical organization that will make a concert tour of seven of the world's important cultural capitals next July and August.

April plays the flute in the Romulus Senior High School Concert Band, conducted by Gideon Pettway Jr.

The invitation for membership in the U.S. Collegiate Wind Band was received from Prof. Al. G. Wright, director of bands at Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind., and conductor of the USCWB.

Membership is limited to a minimum of 60 and a maximum of 85 college wind players and mature senior high school band students.

The U.S. Collegiate Wind Band will travel for three weeks (July 28 - Aug. 18) in England, Belgium, France, Switzerland, Denmark, Luxembourg and Russia. Concerts will be performed in London, Copenhagen, Antwerp, Paris, Lucern, Zurich and Moscow.

Acceptance for membership in this highly talented group of college and high school musicians is considered a national musical honor of considerable importance.

The U.S. Collegiate Wind Band will be the only band performing and touring in Russia in the summer of 1972. Previous tours in Russia have been made by the University of Michigan Band and the University of Minnesota Band.

Center accepts applications

The Romulus Help Center will accept job applications beginning Thursday.

"We can't guarantee any jobs," said Earl Lamb, chairman for the Help Center and Job Placement Service, "but we will make lists of applicants available to community businesses and, depending on the response, place as many people as possible."

Plans are, according to Lamb, to list applicants and their qualifications in a monthly publication that will be mailed to the personnel department of area businesses. The list also will be displayed on public service buildings such as banks, libraries and city buildings.

There will be no charge for the service. It will be counted as in part reciprocal for the support and assistance the Help Center has received from the community.

Lamb stated applicants may come to the center, located at 35085 Goddard Road, to fill out placement cards between the noon and mid-night daily.

PTA gives $40 to Help Center

A well-attended PTA Founder's Day dinner at Merriman Elementary School last Thursday netted $40 for the newly-opened Romulus Help Center, located on Goddard Road in Romulus.

Merriman PTA, the newest elementary PTA group in the city, hosted its first Founder's Day celebration, featuring baked ham and meat balls with pot-luck side dishes. Nearly 200 parents, teachers and children attended.

Mrs. Carole Bales, president of the group, introduced guests and announced a millage renewal election to be held on March 13. Mrs. Bales asked that the Founder's Day collection be earmarked for the Help Center and called on Fouad Berry, former member of the board of directors for the Drug Use and Abuse Council, to explain the center's function.

James B. Stone, judge of the 34th District Court, will be the guest speaker at the general membership meeting of the Romulus-Metro International Airport Chamber of Commerce to be held on March 7 at the Hilton Inn, located at 31500 Wick Rd., Romulus.

JUDGE JAMES B. STONE

Judge Stone will speak on the state courts of Michigan and on the growth of the 34th District Court (based in Romulus) and its planned expansion.

The evening will start with a cocktail hour at 6 p.m., followed by dinner at 7 p.m., Hazen Hay, president of the chamber, announced.

Donald Ivey, director of administration of the Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments (SEMOG) will speak on SEMOG's growth and its relation to the City of Romulus. Robert Fitzpatrick, chairman of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners, also is scheduled to speak.

Tickets are $9 per person.

Though Coach Andy Herman's Chiefs kept within range, they never caught their league rivals.

"Turnovers killed us again," said Herman, "we just couldn't make use of the advantages we had."

Huron had three players in double figures including Fred Cordts, whose 19 points were high for the team. Dana Kemp had 15, while Dan Clark added 13 for the losers who made good on 26 of 34 at the free throw line.

Carlson scored 25 of its 37 chances.

The 1971 employment contract expired in April, 1971. Employees have been working without a contract since, and on Feb. 17 went on strike.

Joseph Valenti, president of Local 214 has stated the local is not striking against the City of Romulus "because we want more money than the federal pay board would allow."

He reported the strike is for the continuance of benefits employees gained under the old contract, in addition to what the pay board would allow under the new wage proposals.

Under the old contract, the city provided longevity pay, payment of unused sick leave at the time the employee leaves the city and arbitration of grievances. Valenti charged the city does not want to return to the language of the old contract involving employees benefits.

The city's latest offer ranged from 18 to 70 cents per hour depending upon employee classification, according to Valenti.

He added that employees are willing to settle the dispute by accepting the 5.5 per cent salary increase (or higher) that may be allowed by the federal pay board and the resumption of benefits the city wants to eliminate or reduce.

The city's position, according to Mayor Carmichael, is that the city council wants the final say on arbitrating employee grievances.

Store owners return

Mr. and Mrs. William Stears of the True Value Hardware Store, located at 15031 Middlebelt Rd., Romulus, recently returned from a Tru-Test paint seminar, conducted by General Paint & Chemical Co., the True Value dealership paint manufacturing plant which is a division of Cotter & Co.

During the Tru-Test paint seminar, the Stears participated in discussions with experienced paint men on the best Tru-Test paint to recommend for each purpose, as well as proper paint application and surface preparation for better painting results. They also received the latest information on new Tru-Test Paints and technical improvements designed to make paint application easier and end results better for customers.

A new 32-page decorating booklet, "Let's Live Color," was introduced at the meeting. This colorful booklet shows many fresh decorating ideas and is available free at your Stears True Value Hardware Store. Also, new accent deep colors for walls were introduced in Tru-Test Supreme Latex Paint. These are the bold, dramatic paint colors women see in today's leading home decorating magazines.

As the area's exclusive distributor of Tru-Test Paint, Mr. and Mrs. Stears take special interest in helping people with their painting and color styling problems and invite everyone who needs assistance to stop in and talk it over with them.

Truck bids are sought

The City of Romulus is seeking sealed bids on the purchase of a 1972 half-ton pickup truck.

The proposals must be submitted on forms available at the city clerk's office, 11111 S. Wayne Rd., Romulus.

Bids received by the March 7 deadline will be opened and read at the March 7 session of city council.

Guess what it costs to operate legislature

Do you know what it is costing every person in Michigan to operate the legislature this year in the manner to which the taxpayer is becoming accustomed?

Would you believe $2.03?

That doesn't include the $250 million income tax increase effective last Aug. 1 or the proposed $83 million gasoline tax increase.

But it's fashionable for those dealing in large sums of money to simplify it all for the man on the street who might get the notion that the legislature is no bargain.

Public utilities do the same thing, petitioning the state for a $21 million rate increase and expressing it to the public as pennies a day, or week or a month.

For example, Senator William Faust, whose 13th District includes most of Western Wayne County, argued against the purported savings possible by reducing the two chamber legislature of 148 members to a single house of 76.

"Presently, each Michigan citizen contributes 31 cents a year to support 148 legislators," he said.

Or, to make it clearer, the legislature cost everybody the price of two cups of coffee and a penny and it wasn't such a burden after all, was it, heh heh?

Faust's figures defy any combination of legislative costs ever devised in Lansing.

This year the legislature is spending at least $18,043,633 on itself for $17,000 salaries, for secretaries and aides, for remodeling its offices, for printing and mailing, telephone charges and you name it.

Run that through the computer and it comes out to $2.03 for every man, woman and child in Michigan. In 1970-71, the legislature spent $12,915,032, or $1.65 per capita.

So in five years the cost of operating a 148-member legislature has more than doubled, from $7,709,684 in 1967-68 to $18,043,633 this year.

The price went to $9,186,828 in 1968-69, to $11,982,161 in 1969-70, to $12,915,032 in 1970-71. Gov. William G. Milliken recommended a cutback to $16,348,277 for the next fiscal year, cutting out the $2.3 million used this year to pay for remodeling Senate offices.

Legislature-watchers figure that even in an election year for the House and an increasingly distressing financial bind the $2.3 million will be restored, and simplified.

But consider it another way on the measure of what $18 million can buy in other parts of the budget proposed for 1972-73 by Milliken.

Milliken is asking for $8,203,600 for special programs for the mentally retarded, $24,143,030 for the Michigan State Police patrol and investigation operations and $10,557,106 to operate Oakland University.

Even the $18 million figure for the legislature this year is incomplete because neither the Senate nor House has yet started action on the inevitable supplementary appropriations.

It wasn't contemplated, for example, that the Senate would need gold draperies for the chamber windows or the arrangement of the 50 state flags over the rostrum.

Nor did the House expect to have to prop up the east and west galleries for safety, a danger discovered during an engineering check to determine if they would support plexi glass shields.

So it will cost more to operate the legislature this year.

The rationale for remodeling the capitol even as planning progresses for a new one west of the present site provides an enchanting insight.

Building a $100 million capitol will require financing, say, over the next 20 years. That means at least $5 million a year over that period.

So, if we're going to spend $5 million a year, think of the money we're saving by spending less than that on remodeling the old capitol, or:

"Let's not buy a new submarine this year, dear, and with the money we save we can vacation at Cannes and have enough left over for a new station wagon."

Public officials forum

Vote based on Senate discussion

By JOHN E. McCAULEY State Senator, 11th District

Recently I was invited to speak before a group of citizens concerned about education in Michigan. There is no doubt in my mind but that there is continuing confusion about future school financing, and it is not likely that this cloud will be lifting within the next month or two.

There is one cloud that I hope will be lifted before the next shipping season starts. Some of you may recall that several months ago I introduced legislation that would provide a stiff penalty for those who are scofflaws and poor citizens while operating a ship close to shore.

My bill would make it a misdemeanor to "blow" the stacks of a ship while traveling in waters where the outfall would drop on land. With the current concern about environmental pollution, it seems to me that this is one way to help a problem peculiar to this area without costing anyone a single penny.

Anyone who knows anything about the operation of these vessels knows that with just a little planning it is not necessary to blow out the stacks of a maritime vessel while that ship is close to land.

In the Great Lakes there is more than sufficient area to blow the stacks in areas where the outfall does not harm any land area and, with the state of technology, probably does not affect the quality of the water in those lakes.

The odd part about the bill is the resistance some people in and out of government have to it. Perhaps they have never tried to wash windows that have been smeared with greasy soot, or tried to sweep off walks that smear huge black marks with every stroke. Perhaps they simply aren't interested in being good neighbors and good citizens.

Despite the delaying tactics, I will continue to make every effort to have this bill on the books before the shipping season begins in earnest.

As all of you know, the legislature has worked on two major areas in recent days. One is congressional reapportionment, and the other is the so-called highway-mass transit package.

There has been some progress on congressional reapportionment, but the legislature is working under a very difficult deadline imposed by a federal court suit that is now pending.

The court seems to feel that unless a final plan was to be adopted by Tuesday, it would go ahead and decide the issue. I feel this is an arbitrary action, one that fails to recognize the difficulties in fairly apportioning the 19 congressional seats on a difficult basis that has been imposed by the United States Supreme Court.

In other words, the courts themselves are responsible for the problems we now face in the legislature and once again the courts are attempting to take over what rightly is a function of the legislative branch of government.

By narrow votes, the House of Representatives passed the highway-mass transit package. I would like to make it clear to every citizen of the 11th State Senatorial District that I have not yet decided whether to support or oppose these bills. I will make my decision on what is actually before the senate, not on what someone says is before the senate, or what someone thinks is before the senate.

These bills are extremely complex; and the decision on whether to vote for or against them must be based on what the bills will cost the people of the district, and what they will give in return for the gasoline tax increase in the way of possible road improvements and possible relief of pressure on the property tax.

To put the matter plainly, I will vote for the package only if it represents a good deal for the people of the 11th State Senatorial District. This is a case of voting solely on the basis of what is good for the home people. The fact that the bill definitely will benefit another area has no effect on my vote.

It's fundamentally a case of what's in it for us.

Woman claims board denies parents' rights

To the editor:

On attending the Feb. 21 Huron School Board meeting, parents in the audience were again treated to a fine example of the Huron School Board's attempt to take away the rights of parents.

One parent was told by a board member to "shut up." Another, who was on the agenda to inquire about a complaint she had made previously, was told that the board would not allow her to speak in public. The board refused to listen to her unless she would agree to go into executive session with them. They also refused to allow her husband to accompany her.

The State Board of Education law: 38.104 (M.S.A. 152004) states:

A. The hearing shall be public or private at the option of the teacher. (The teacher who was involved was not present at the time.)

B. Both the teacher and the person filing charges may be represented by counsel. (The parent was not informed of this right.)

It was the opinion of many that this parent was discriminated against, and the whole affair was handled illegally by the board.

Again we in the audience witnessed the Huron School Board making and breaking rules to suit its own needs.

This School Board had asked parents with complaints to go through what it (the school board) has designated as correct channels. This parent did and the end results were: they still refused to take action on her complaint.

My summary of all this is that the attitude seems to be that the school board has its rights, the teachers have their rights, but the hell with the parents' rights!

Mrs. Doris E. Kiser

Huron man shocked at lack of U.S. flag

To the editor:

I attended a wrestling meet in Huron High School recently and as a resident taxpayer and spectator, I was shocked, shamed and embarrassed when the audience stood to pledge allegiance to our flag and we had no flag.

I have noticed the absence of our flag before but thought for this event surely one could have been taken out of moth balls. We seem to have money for many law suits, but can not afford the price of a flag.

I would go the Huron School Board for action on this, but the board members would only go into executive session and I feel this is a public matter.

I will not support the communist doctrine nor any other doctrine intended to overthrow our government. I am an American. I intend to behave like an American and honor our flag.

Is this a clue to what is wrong in the Huron schools? Call Me All American.

Lansing report

State employees eye grievance change

Michigan's 148 legislators and the voters who send them to Lansing are undergoing an identity crisis as the times grow more troubled.

They all are searching for some connection between campaign promises and performance and confusion romps untrammelled.

Troubled city officials gathered in solemn conclave to denounce the state's 1969 compulsory arbitration law for policemen and firemen and protest its extension for three years.

It was an almost solid bloc, a mass of opposition that under most conditions of action-reaction would have sent lawmakers back to their desks to slay the dragon for the cities.

So the cities got this advice from Senator Robert VanderLaan (R-Kentwood), the Senate majority leader after listening to his prediction the extension bill would become law.

"We know that citizens elect those who vote for compulsory arbitration," he said. "You shouldn't ask others to come to Lansing and pull your chestnuts out of the fire for you."

He urged the cities to take a close look at the incumbents and the candidates who want to succeed them and vote for the man who will represent them best in Lansing.

It's not at all elementary, my dear Watson.

Suddenly a pillar of the community, a bright young man or someone seasoned in the Rotary Club or a revered school superintendent wakes up the day after the election and finds he's a legislator.

And just as suddenly the pressures build from the big industry lobbyists, from the labor unions, from the groups which gave him substances as a political person.

BY DON HOENSHELL, Daily Eagle Lansing Bureau

These are the elements which give him clout in Lansing, not the city officials and the block clubs or the people who went to the polls.

Legislators are at constant war with themselves trying to be a catalyst for their many worlds, trying to coordinate them into a guide for his own conscience and for his political future.

Too few of them achieve this happy condition where they are masters of their own fates, captains of their own souls, or true representatives of their own districts and all its elements.

Thus VanderLaan has a pat ending to his public speeches to answer criticism of the legislature which he describes as the last open forum available to the man on the street.

Nobody even in this defiant age pickets the courts or circulates petitions attacking the decisions of the judiciary. Even the governor is exempt in most cases from expressed raw emotions.

And most of the criticism of the legislature is the fault of the newspapers, he says.

"Parenthetically, the newspapers seem to be more interested in belittling us than getting the message across about what's happening here," he said.

It was a fact - and still is - that the Senate spent, and is still spending, tax money to remodel offices with new carpeting, paneling, rich furniture and kitchenettes.

It was a fact - and still is - that legislators go on junkets at taxpayers' expense and it is a fact that legislators surround themselves with tax-paid staffers that some claim to be incompetent for the jobs they hold.

It is a fact that private deals are made and these are reported whenever they can be proved.

It would be more serene for some legislators if newspapermen were barred from the capitol and the most democratic forum in government could operate in secret, a rhetorical contradiction.

Every four years the senators go back to their districts to face the voters again and it happens every two years for the House members.

The great value of VanderLaan's position is that the voters, as intelligent and as aware as they tend to be in other areas, might be talked into keeping better track of their legislators.

A starter would be to ask a legislator how and why he voted on a controversial issue or, in some cases, why he didn't vote at all.

Select an issue - property tax assessments, abortion reform, the transportation package, compulsory arbitration - and ask for a legislator's clear and definite statement of his position.

The gap between the legislator and the man on the street in his home town has never been greater. To operate at peak efficiency, both have to keep track of each other.

And comes election day and an incumbent survives, he'll be a better legislator for it.

In our opinion

Congratulations to PCHA

We were pleased to see the Peoples Community Hospital Authority (PCHA) Board of Directors place another year's faith in its four incumbent officers.

With Donald J. Pizzimenti in the chairman's seat for the seventh year in a row, we're sure PCHA will continue its steps forward in providing the best hospital care possible at the lowest price possible to residents of Western Wayne County.

Our readers write Raspberry blasted for leading 'circus'

To the editor:
I would like to comment on a few things in this letter. I am a young voter here in Romulus, and I don't like what I see and hear.

My first comments will be directed at Council President James Raspberry. I read with much disgust his attack upon Mayor Carmichael. I myself have not been an avid supporter of the mayor, but I find myself on his defense at this point.

Mr. Raspberry, you say the mayor is not a leader. I say you are wrong. Wrong? Yes, because you yourself lead a circus now and then which we call a council meeting. If I may quote you, as printed in last week's Romulus Roman, "The Council and administration has many responsibilities collectively and separately with the same goal - making Romulus a better place to live, both wholesome and economically as well as efficient services and taxes..."

What kind of actions do you term your own and the council when they prolong action after action at council meetings? This is a disservice to the community... The only action I see you and other councilmen take is those which will further your own political careers, which I hope are dead in 1973.

There is no need for the worker strike...I was at a few council meetings when the Union reps for the city workers were looked at by you and your partners as if they were monsters from out space. I was at council meetings which you lead Mr. Raspberry, that beat "Hee Haw" on TV!!! And you have the gall to criticize Mayor Carmichael for lack of leadership!

May I go further back to the liquor licenses. The mayor spoke many times on how he felt in regards to this subject. If I may refresh your mind Mr. Raspberry, he wanted those licenses to go to places which would bring greater income, etc. into the city. Time after time after time Mr. Raspberry, you and your council partners tabled these discussions. I remember a meeting back in May of 1971 when Ramada Inn asked for approval. They received it in September, or was it even October, 1971? So Mr. Raspberry, clean up your little house before you enter someone else's with mud on your feet yet.

And, if I may go back to a letter written by Raymond Pokrowski of a few weeks back, "the mayor, to date, has not exercised all the power delegated to him by the city charter. In fact, the biggest criticism I have heard of Mr. Carmichael is that he has delayed this long. Perhaps it's time for the citizens of Romulus to get behind the mayor, who you elected, and join him in demanding that the city council work jointly with him instead of against him."

And secondly, my thoughts are to the voters of Romulus. Take a look at the council and evaluate seriously whose "real" interest they have been acting in. It surely cannot be yours and your family. Keep this in mind. Ask the city workers how "serious" the council is in making Romulus a "Better" place to live.

Woman wants holiday changed to Nov. 11

To the editor:

On behalf of the Fourth District Ladies Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars, we are asking you and your readers to help us in our campaign to have Armistice Day (Veteran's Day) returned to the date of Nov. 11, where it has been for over 50 years until this past year.

We feel that designating the fourth Monday in October holds no importance to the actual date which was set up to honor the men of the first World War, and later those of other wars and conflicts.

We are asking all your readers to please send a post card addressed as follows: Don Edwards, Chairman Subcommittee No. 4, U.S. House of Representatives, Committee on the Judiciary, Wash. DC 20515. (this was just referred out to the subcommittee recently and we need more help to have support of this committee). Ask him to support H.R. 180, which is the return of Nov. 11 as Armistice Day.

As legislative chairman this is one of the three-fold programs. The others are to make sure everyone is registered to vote this year and to write to William Copeland, Room 117, Capitol Building Lansing, Mich., asking the substitute of H.R. 4536, Vietnam Bonus Bill to be brought out: Any questions, please call KE 7-2161. write to Mrs. Anna C. Pension plan approved

A pension plan covering employees of the City of Belleville has been approved by the Belleville City Council to embrace the current staff of 11 city employees.

Provisions of the pension plan, which are provided by the Michigan Employee's Retirement Act, will become effective March 1.

The council directed City Treasurer Mrs. Cora Bradshaw to make all wage and salary deductions on behalf of the eligible employees and to pay the deductions to the retirement board.

In other matters, the council appointed Councilman Nelson Boone as the city's street administrator and approved the 1968 National Electric Code as the electric code for the City of Belleville.

Recreation calls asked

Information about recreational programs in Van Buren Township can be obtained by contacting the Van Buren Township offices, 46425 Tyler Rd., telephone number 941-0434, or by calling newly-appointed township recreation director, James Lightfoot.

Lightfoot is a fifth grade teacher at the Edgemont Elementary School, 125 Edgemont St., Belleville. He requests of township residents their suggestions, requests and constructive criticisms.

"The community recreation program needs you and the community needs a recreation program," Lightfoot said.

The first one was held last Thursday in Romulus and proved very successful.

Mrs. Jean (Ed) Williams of Sterling Street is convalescing after leaving the hospital last week. She was a patient at Annapolis Hospital, Wayne, after suffering a heart attack several weeks ago.

Many outstanding 4-H members will be honored at the 1972 Wayne County 4-H Awards Banquet which will be held Monday, March 6, at the U.A.W. Hall on Telegraph Road (between Goddard and Wick Road) in Taylor. The time is 6:30 p.m.

Eric Morris, 5, and Geoff Herrmann, 4, were among local ice skating students performing in the Winter Sports Day held Saturday by the Wyandotte Figure Skating Club at Wyandotte Recreation Center. The two, who are children of Mr. and Mrs. Don Morris of Walnut Street and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Herrmann of Westvale Street, performed with their class of pre-school skaters. Later in the evening another local skater, Carla Hay, 16, appeared in a group figure skating number with more advanced students. Carla is the youngest daughter of the Fred W. CITY OF BELLEVILLE REGULAR MEETING

COUNCIL MINUTES

A Regular Council Meeting of the City Council for the City of Belleville, County of Wayne and State of Michigan was called to order by Mayor Smith with Councilmen Palmer, Hamlin, Boone and Amerman present. also present City Attorney B. Ward Smith.

Sports Cars in Review opens Friday at museum

In its 20th year, the renowned "Sports Cars in Review" at the Henry Ford Museum March 3-26 salutes the long and exciting history of auto racing in the United States with its theme, "Great American Racing Cars."

One of the most universally enjoyed sports in the world, automobile racing is not as modern as we tend to think. It has been an important part of the automotive scene almost from the beginning.

As early as 1900, steamers, electrics and gasoline models all competed for victory on American race tracks, spurred by the interest generated by the great 1428 mile Tour of France Race in 1899.

By 1901, not only was money to be made on the tracks -- $10,000 in prizes in the Chicago races alone -- but reputations as well.

Among the more than 60 cars in the show are some that made money and reputations for their builders or drivers in these early days.

The 1901 Riker Electric Racer is the oldest vehicle in this year's exhibition and a sister of the one that beat both steamers and gasoline models in a 50-mile race a year earlier.

The first and second place winners of the famous 1902 Manufacturers Challenge Cup Race are featured in the show also. Barney Oldfield, driving Henry Ford's new "999" in his first automobile race, bested Alexander Winton in his highly respected "Bullet" and thus took the first step in establishing his world-wide racing game and that of the "999."

As featured cars in the 1972 Sports Cars in Review, those levitations represent the earliest days of American automobile racing. They stand together with vehicles of every breed and vintage to span every era and type of racing through contemporary and experimental models, including nine premier showings.

Although American sports cars are featured, there are nine countries represented in the show from a variety of manufacturers including some home-crafted ones. They are displayed against the unique background of the Museum's Street of Early American Shops.

Nearby the regular collection of 200 antique, classic and historic automobiles complements the sports cars which are gathered from all over the country for the review.

A variety of other activities round out the event. Of interest to all sports car enthusiasts is the Sports Car Film Festival presented several times each weekend in the Museum Theater. It will feature a film of the last race on Daytona Beach in 1956 at which the "999" was a special guest and filmed highlights of the 1972 Indianapolis "500."

Also on weekends, members of the Sports Car Club of America will be on hand in the exhibit area to discuss the cars and answer questions about auto racing as a sport.

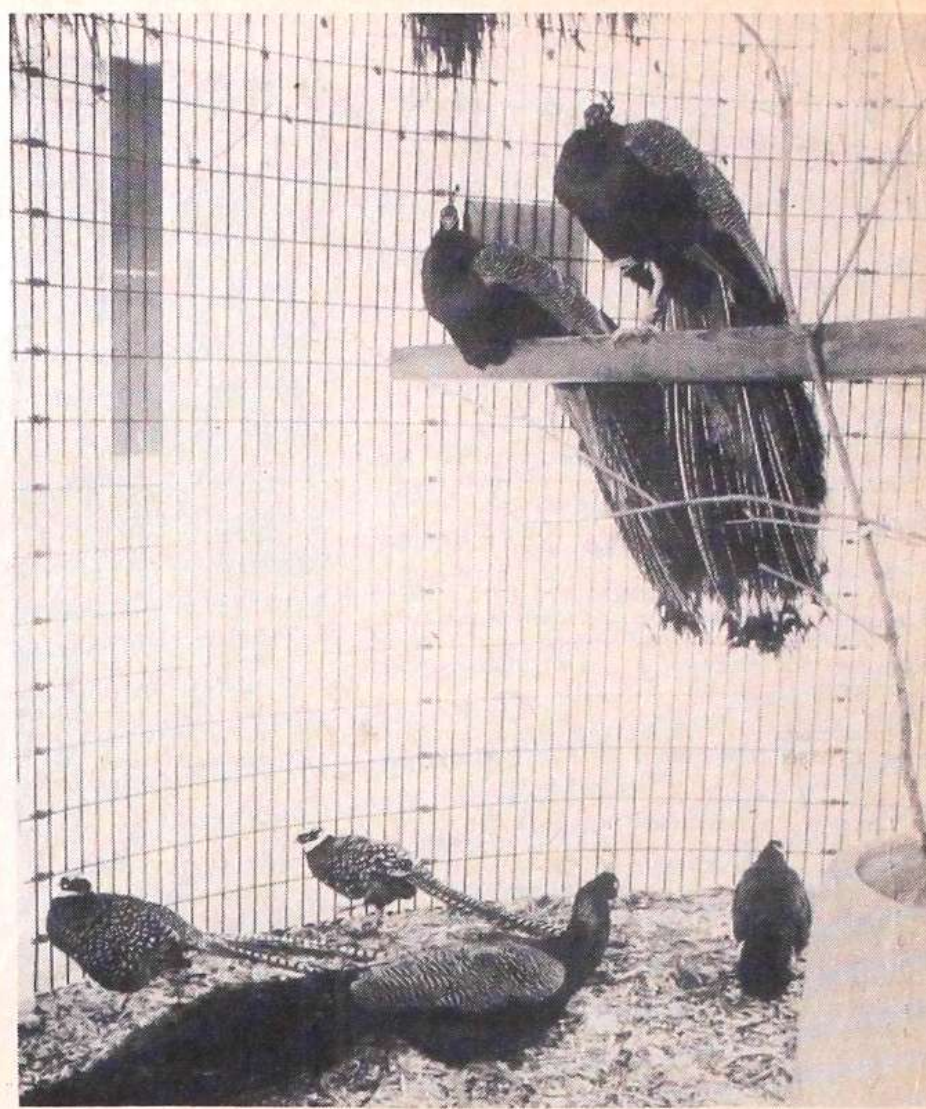

The Museum will remain open until 10 p.m. Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings for the four weekends of the review. Regular Museum hours of 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. will remain in effect Mondays through Thursdays.

There is no additional charge for the activities of Sports Cars in Review beyond the regular museum admission of $2 for adults and $1 for children 6 through 14.

Another photo class offered to residents

Because a large number of students had to be turned away from a recent course in nature photography, University Center for Adult Education (UM-WSU) has opened a second section. A few additional students can be accommodated.

The class meets at the University of Michigan-Dearborn, 4901 Evergreen Rd. five Wednesdays and five

Glass exhibit open at Detroit Museum

The exhibit, "Artistry in Glass" at the Detroit Historical Museum honors a disappearing craftsman - the artist who works in stained and leaded glass.

Once no really fine home was complete without the colorful decorative touch of a leaded glass window. But now it is just one more hand craft which cannot survive today's high labor costs.

The museum has managed to preserve many decorative windows through its salvage operations in the Elmwood and Lafayette Park areas. Windows from homes and businesses are shown along with two large stained glass windows saved from the Mary W. Palmer Memorial Church.

A portion of the exhibit is devoted to the Detroit Stained Works, which for 110 years operated in Detroit. The firm was responsible for many fine church and domestic windows

'Cinderella' at Youththeatre on Saturday

The traditional tale of "Cinderella" comes to the Detroit Youththeatre stage in a modernized re-enactment by television's Prince Street Players. The cast of 10 New York professionals will perform twice on Saturday at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. in the auditorium of the Detroit Institute of Arts.

A highlight of show occurs when the Prince goes into the theatre audience searching for the girl whose foot fits the glass slipper. For those little girls who are missed by the Prince during the show, the Celebrity Party following both Saturday performances gives the audience an opportunity to meet the cast.

Tickets at $1.50 are available at the Institute of Arts ticket office and all J.L. Hudson stores. For further information about "Cinderella" or any of the other Youththeatre programs, call 832-2731.

Glass lampshades are also made by the glass craftsman. Tiffany-type leaded shades are shown as well as lamps with shades made of glass panels.

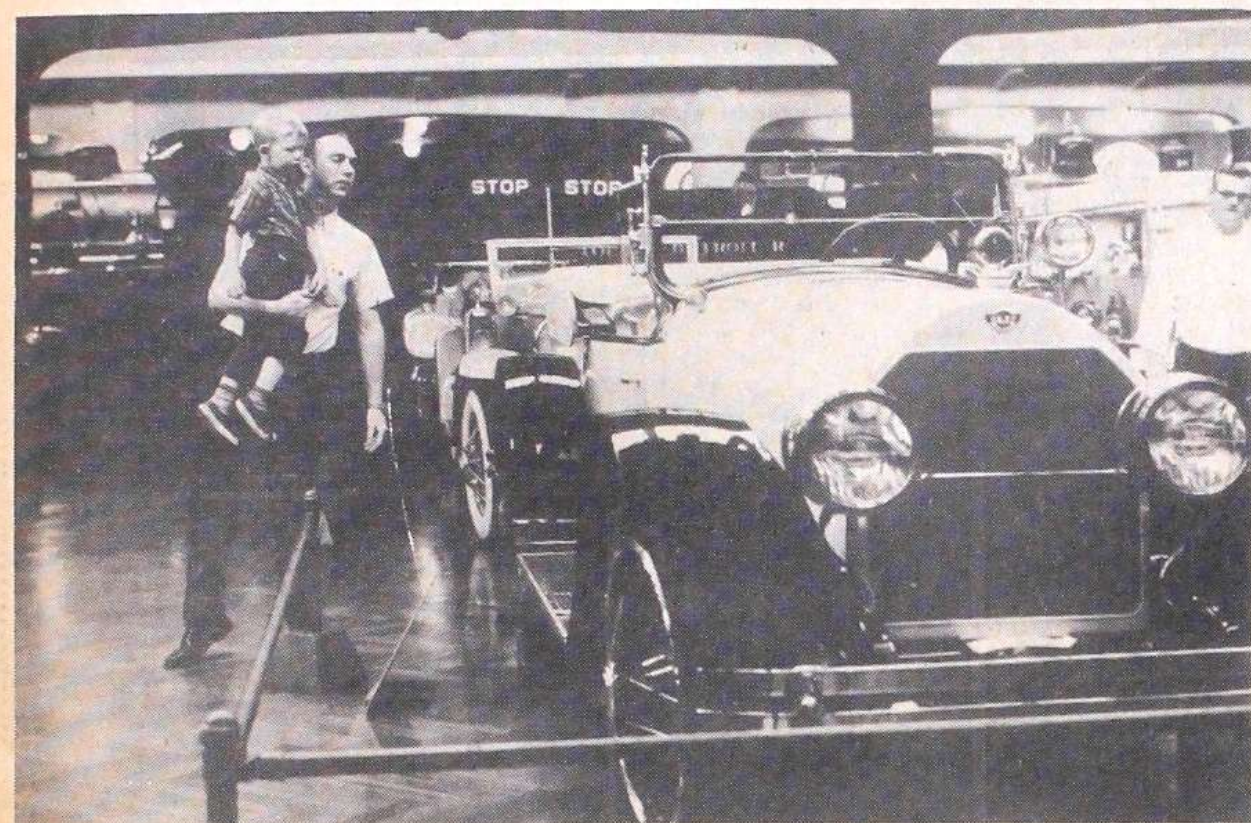

The entire exhibit is illuminated by light shining through decorative leaded glass windows or lampshades, so that the visitor can see the artistry of glass as it was meant to be seen - radiant with light and color.

The Exhibit will run through June 4.

SPORTS CAR SHOW - Automobile racing is almost as old as cars themselves. Sports Cars in Review at Greenfield Village and Henry Ford Museum traces the development of road and Vacation show slated

Starting Friday at fairgrounds

Have you ever seen anyone dive off of a high diving board into 3 1/2 feet of water?

Visitors to the 10th annual Sportsmen's and Vacation Show at the State Fairgrounds, March 3-12, will just that when Orwin Key, comedy king of the circus, makes his first appearance in the Parade of Champions Stage and Show.

They had audiences roar with laughter at the Chicago Sportsmen's Show, and pryer Tom Durant will be highlighting him as part of the act to entertain Detroiters during the show's 10-day run.

Emceeding the stage show will be Hollywood's John Bromfield, star television's popular "U.S. Marshall" and "Sheriff of Cochise" series. Bromfield's favorite pastimes have always been hunting and fishing, and while he was starring in one of his first roles in Hollywood in an adventure picture called "Harpoon", which was filmed in the Bering Straits off Alaska, he hand-harpooned two whales himself in Captains' Bay.

Joining Bromfield and Harvey in the show are a host of others. They include Ann Clark, former National Woman's Archery Champion, Loral I. Delaney, champion dog-trainer and her retrievers; Don Allen, one of the country's greatest casting experts; Bill Fontana and his log-rolling dog, Peppy; Dalton Peck, Canada's log-rolling champ; Danny Sailor, also of Canada, who will scale a tree to the top of the Coliseum and be back down again in a matter of seconds; and Tuffy Truesdale and his rascal, bear Victor, who will take all challengers brave enough to come forward and wrestle with Victor.

In addition to the stage show, Durant will also feature "Fishing Tackle Row," where one can fish for live trout and keep what he catches; two casting ponds where you can try your skill with the latest equipment; and the travel section where one can see the latest camping trailers and equipment available, and talk to people from all over the U.S. and Canada who represent ranches, lodges and camping areas and can give first-hand information on where to stay and how to make the most out of your vacation.

Prague orchestra at Masonic

The Prague Symphony Orchestra, the official orchestra of the "Golden City" of Prague, will appear at the Masonic Auditorium Friday at 8:20 p.m.

Founded in 1934 during a world economic slump by a group of unemployed musicians, the orchestra was at first primarily active in the fields of radio and films. In 1952, the orchestra was taken under the wing of the city administration, assuring its economic survival.

At this point, the group began its full development as a symphonic ensemble. It achieved in a short time an important position among the best-known orchestras of Europe. Performing for more than 120,000 listeners annually in Prague, the orchestra features guest conductors and soloists of world renown.

Bandsmen bring home ribbons

Despite a prolonged period without a permanent director following the death of Frank Wilson, the bandsmen at Garden City East High School made an impressive showing in the recent Solo and Ensemble Festival at Henry Ford Community College.

Newly-appointed Band Director Lincoln Naumoff says that East entrants were awarded four first division, 21 second division and two third division ratings.

Mike Williams, Cheryl Smith, Jim Carroll and Ron Miller combined for a first division rating as a clarinet quartet. Larry Delvay won a first division rating for his drum solo.

A trumpet solo by Dave York also won a first division ranking, while Mike Williams earned his second blue ribbon for a clarinet solo.

A total of 47 students helped achieve the 21 second and two third division awards.

VOTER REGISTRATION — Belleville High School students line up to register last Thursday when the Student Council sponsored an 18-year-old voter registration drive at the school. The students are (from left)

Dorothy Clark, Jacqueline Lynos, Tony Gardner and Edward Mounce. Mrs. Jean Baumdraker, Belleville city clerk (center) and Mrs. Anna Stepp, Ypsilanti Township clerk, registered the students.

TV film depicts county special education services

"Training For Life," a special half-hour telecast depicting the educational activities in regional centers, will be shown on Channel 56 WTVS at the following times and dates: today (Wednesday) at 3 p.m. and on Tuesday, March 7 at 3 p.m.

The telecast features a discussion of special education services for the non-educable students in Wayne County at the Intermediate District's 10 regional centers, an appearance of the Downriver Combo Group and a showing of the 17-minute color-sound film highlighting typical activities of mentally handicapped students who attend regional centers.

Hosting the telecast is school-community consultant Bob Wall. Intermediate Superintendent of Schools William Shunk, and director of Special Education Services James Greiner will discuss curricular, financial, and community aspects of Wayne County's special education services.

The Downriver Combo, organized and directed by Murray Morrow, opens the telecast with a rousing "rock and roll" selection.

David Davis of Romulus is a member of the musical group and plays the tambourine.

The film "Training For Life" is available for showing at P.T.A. meetings, civic gatherings or to any interested educational organization. Film may be booked by calling the Wayne County Audio-Visual Center.

Students register to vote

An 18-year-old voter registration drive was conducted at the Belleville Senior High School last Thursday morning.

Sponsored by the Belleville Senior High School Student Council, the registration was under the supervision of representatives of the clerk's offices in Sumpter, Van Buren and Ypsilanti townships and the City of Belleville.

A total of 96 18-year-olds was registered to vote in the upcoming elections.

The purpose of the registration drive was to insure that the 18-year-olds vote in the March 13 school building bond election and the May 16 presidential primary election.

Registration officials who participated in the registration drive at the high school were Mrs. Erma Jean Payne, Van Buren Township clerk; Mrs. Jean Baumdraker, Belleville city clerk; Mrs. Anna Stepp, Ypsilanti Township clerk, and Mrs. M. Sienko, deputy registrar of Sumpter Township.

Cindy Bates, 10 wins spelling bee

Cindy Bates, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bates of 34257 Wick Rd., Romulus, is a double spelling bee champion. Cindy has won both her fifth class spelling bee as well as the Cory Elementary School, Romulus championship.

She will now compete in the district spelling bee to be held at the Huron Junior High School on March 22.

The runners-up in the class bee and school bee are:

Ricky Boatright, son of Mr. and Mrs. Al Boatright of 34085 McBride St., Romulus, who won the class spelling bee, and Anita Kent, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Kent of 9748 Lisa St., Romulus, who won the runner-up spot in the school bee.

The winning word for Cindy was "easily" in the school-wide contest and the winning word in her class bee was "Slave."

The spelling bee pronouncers were Mrs. Nancy Bates for the class bee and Mrs. Donna Brazeau for the school bee.

Jaycee awards given

The Romulus Jaycees have announced the winners of the club awards for outstanding service to the club and the City of Romulus for the month of January.

The Jaycee of the Quarter award went to Richard Szente, the Jaycee of the Month award was presented to Lee Silvey and Certificates of Merit awards were given to Julius Szabo, Gordon Silvey and Jay Macy.

The awards are given by the chapter to those Jaycees, who show unselfish commitment toward their city. Awards chairman and Past President

Ron Collins indicated that the Jaycees are delighted at the spirit of competition for excellence shown this year and the results in the community which have been shown by the individual Jaycee's work.

He also noted that the awards are given one month after the Jaycee's work in order to give careful analysis.

McCarthy era

In 1950, Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) charged that the State Department was infested with Communists.

CITY OF ROMULUS ORDINANCE NO. 72-60 SECRET WITNESS ORDINANCE

An Ordinance to establish a secret witness plan to encourage citizens to relate information which they might have regarding criminal acts within the City of Romulus; to provide for monetary rewards for such information; to establish specific methods for providing information and receiving rewards; to provide for the funding and administration thereof.

WHEREAS the crime rate within the City of Romulus is such that the City Council deems it desirable and in the interest of good government to establish a secret witness plan to gain information necessary for the arrest and conviction of persons perpetrating certain criminal acts within the City.

THE CITY OF ROMULUS ORDAINS:

Section 1. SHORT TITLE. This ordinance shall be known as the "Romulus Secret Witness Plan."

Section 2. Any person having personal knowledge of the commission of a criminal act involving stealth or wanton and intentional dumping on private or public property or destruction of private or public property and who may otherwise be unwilling to offer such information to police agencies or city officials, may submit such information in writing to the City of Romulus and receive a monetary reward therefor.

Section 3. A person submitting such information shall submit a written statement unsigned. Such statement shall contain the name and address, if known, of the alleged offender together with the time, date and location of the offense and brief summary of the information which such witness may possess. For purpose of later identification, the person supplying such information shall place a seven digit number in the upper right hand corner of the statement which he shall submit and shall enclose in a sealed envelope containing on its face the same seven digit number as of his statement his name, address and telephone number. All of the above information shall be sent to the City of Romulus or its designate in an envelope addressed to the City or such other organization as the City shall select.

Section 4. Upon receipt of such information the City shall turn the written statement over to the proper law enforcement authority and retain the unopened envelope containing the identity number on the front. Such envelope shall be kept in a safe, secure place by the person or organization selected by the City Council as a guardian of said identity envelopes. All information received hereunder shall be time and date stamped by the recipient.

Section 5. In the event that the information given by such secret witness leads to and is a contributing factor to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons committing an offense as defined herein, the envelope containing the identity number of the secret witness shall be submitted to a committee composed of three persons chosen by the Mayor with the concurrence of the City Council, to screen and determine to whom the reward should be paid.

Section 6. In the event that more than one person shall submit the same or similar information which leads to the arrest and conviction of a person committing a criminal act as hereinbefore defined, the committee may, at its discretion, divide the reward among the witnesses in equal shares. In no event shall more than one reward be paid for each reported criminal act.

Section 7. All rewards shall be paid by the City upon recommendation by the committee hereinabove established. The rewards shall be paid on a basis of one hundred dollars ($100.00) for information leading to the arrest and conviction of any person perpetrating a crime of stealth or destruction of public or private property, and fifty dollars ($50.00) for the arrest and conviction of persons committing offenses of littering.

Section 8. All rewards shall be paid from a fund established by the City Council for such purpose and which shall be initially funded by a grant in the amount of $2,000.00. Subsequent additions or deletions may be made to or from said fund by the City Council as it shall deem necessary. Contributions from the general public may be made to said fund.

Section 9. All statements and identification envelopes shall be kept for a period of one year from the date of receipt. If after such time period, no arrests or convictions result from the information presented to the City, such information and identification envelope shall be destroyed by the City Clerk.

Section 10. It shall be unlawful for any person including members of the committee hereinabove established to disclose or to publish the identity of any person who shall submit a statement under Paragraph 3 hereunder other than to members of such committee.

Section 11. This ordinance shall take effect immediately upon publication in the official City newspaper.

Leonard J. Folmar, Clerk
City of Romulus

I, Leonard J. Folmar, Clerk for the City of Romulus, do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of an ordinance adopted by the City Council at a regular meeting held in the City Hall on February 22, 1972.

Jaycees seek members

The Romulus Jaycees need you.

As a service club in the fast growing community of the City of Romulus, the Romulus Jaycees are having a membership drive in hopes of expanding the club's membership to help better serve the city. Lee Silvey, membership chairman, announced Monday.

To those persons who are interesting in helping the Romulus community and have a few hours a month to spare, the Romulus Jaycees extend an invitation to attend a membership meeting and get involved in helping to make Romulus a better place in which to live.

For more information call Lee Silvey at 941-0289 or send your name and address to the Romulus Jaycees, P.O. Box 35, Romulus.

Prayer meeting slated

Church Women United in the Belleville area will observe World Day of Prayer, the international celebration of faith and unity among Christian women, at 1 p.m., Friday at the Belleville United Presbyterian Church.

The theme, to be used in similar gatherings in 169 countries, is "All Joy Be Yours."

The world-wide prayers were chosen this year by the women of eastern and western Europe. They were aware of the three problems affecting the whole world: the plight of displaced persons, the strained relationships between the generations and the unsettling effect of the technological revolution.

Guestspeaker will be Father John Taneburgo from Verona Fathers Missionary of Monroe.

As Father Taneburgo is originally from Italy, problems confronting those in other countries may be made clear.

Persons of all faiths are invited to attend this service. A nursery will be provided for young children.

Class watches slides

Mrs. Hans Keok of Belleville brought from Africa slides and artifacts which she recently shared with Mrs. Patsy Kissel's fourth grade class at Edgemont Elementary School.

Dr. and Mrs. Keok and their three children recently returned from Africa where they spent more than two years with the U.S. Peace Corps.

The children were especially interested in the ceremonial masks. Mrs. Keok showed the children tie dyed fabric the African women wear. An ivory carving showed how the women carry their young children on their backs.

Another visitor to Mrs. Kissel's class that day was John Thompson, who is employed by the Detroit Edison Co. His daughter, Betty, is a member of the class.

The class is studying electricity. Thompson showed his tools and explained how he used them. Thompson also visited Mrs. Ruth Ross' second grade class.

In junior high science fair

Girls capture top prizes

Most of the top honors at the Romulus Junior High School Science Fair held Saturday went to the distaff side as judges picked Kathy Mittons' colorful panorama of evolution as first prize winner. They awarded second honors to Brenda Peters' working model of a barometer.

In addition to blue ribbons, the girls also earned cash prizes of $10 and $5 for their first and second place winning entries.

Other honors went to entries who were awarded red ribbons. Those winners were Dawn Wilcox, Laurie Smith, Susan Currie and Karen DeLine.

The first prize winner, 12-year-old Kathy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Mitton of 9445 Washington St., Romulus, is a seventh grade student and worked about six weeks preparing her entry. She says she is interested in science and art, hoping to make a career in paleontology.

Brenda, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse L. Peters of 34920 Eureka Rd., Romulus, is 14 years old and in eighth grade. She has spent about six weeks gathering material for her barometer display. She had charted readings from the device for a period of two weeks. Brenda says she would like to become a science teacher.

Science Club members, who sponsored and arranged the competition, were on hand during exhibition hours. Cheryl Brown, president and Susan Currie, secretary, were assisted by other members in serving coffee and conducting guests through the exhibits.

Judges for the event were Dr. Walter Gessert of Eastern Michigan University, Sister Annamaria Martinen, R.S.M., a medical student, and Phillip Daigle, teacher at Sacred Heart High School in Dearborn.

FIRST PLACE WINNER — Kathy Mitton (left), 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Mitton of 9445 Washington St., Romulus, won first place in the Romulus Junior High School Science Fair held last Saturday. Her entry was a colorful panorama depicting evolution.

Looking on are (from left) Cheryl Brown, president of the Science Club, and Susan Currie, club secretary. Kathy, a seventh grade student, reports she worked on her entry for approximately six weeks.

Simmons fined, sentenced

Lawrence "Skipper" Simmons, 20, of 25424 Sumpter Rd., Belleville, has been sentenced to pay a fine and court cost of $250 and placed on probation on a charge of possession of stolen property under $100.

Simmons was sentenced by 14th District Court Judge Patrick J. Conlin last Thursday.

Originally charged with armed robbery, Simmons was permitted to plead guilty to the possession charge on Feb. 10.

He was arrested and accused of the armed robbery of occupants of an apartment at 329 Jarvis St., Ypsilanti.

Revival services scheduled

The World Challenge Evangelistic Team from Nashville, Tenn. will begin a series of revival services at 7:30 tonight (Wednesday) and continue through March 5 at the Church of God of Prophecy, 7201 Kempa St., Romulus.

The World Challenge Singers have appeared in singing concerts with the top gospel singing groups in America. The manager of the group, the Rev. Ronnie Hamm, who is now devoting full time to evangelism, is a former member of the Imperials, their organization's leading soul-winning group.

The public is invited to attend these services each evening by pastor Benny Hart.

UHAS denies participation in recall moves

The United Homeowners Association of Sumpter Township Monday issued a position statement relative to the two recall campaigns now under way in the township.

The association stated that it has not participated in any way with the two recalls against the seven township board officials.

The association issued its statement to refute reports that the association officially supported the recalls and to clear up apparent misunderstandings prompted by the appearance of Frank Stepaniak, chairman of the association's grievance committee, at recent public hearing.

The public hearing, presided over by Wayne County Commissioner John N. Sabo Jr., representing the 24th district, was recently held at Sumpter Elementary School as a means of arbitrating the disputes which were the basis for the two recall campaigns.

Suggestions were made by Sabo in several areas, but as yet no official action by the township board has been reported.

The statement of the United Homeowners Association of Sumpter follows:

"The United Homeowners Association of Sumpter Township has not participated in any way with the two recalls against the seven township officials.

"The four member-committee recalling the township clerk and four township trustees has never been a member of the association (UHAS).

"Some of those recalling Supervisor Elmer Parraghi and Treasurer Mrs. Amanda Roberts may be or have been members of the association (UHAS). They are acting on their own and not through UHAS.

The United Homeowners Association of Sumpter is a non-political organization. Those signing the recall petitions did it on their own and are in no way connected with the UHAS.

"When the chairman of the association's grievance committee spoke at the recent arbitration meeting, he spoke for his individual self and not as a representative of the UHAS."

The association statement was made by its chairman, Willis C. Holmes. The association, it was reported, has a membership of approximately 500.

In Van Buren

Two new voting precincts okayed

The creation of two new voting precincts in Van Buren Township has been approved by the township board.

The two new precincts would be formed by splitting the township's present four voting polls. The board authorized Mrs. Erma Jean Wayne, township clerk, to split the present precincts.

The township's need for additional voting precincts prompted by population voter increases. A map indicating the locations of all precincts soon will be available.

The township's precincts are located as follows: Precinct one and four are at Fire Hall 1, located at Fourth and Main Streets, Belleville, and precincts two and three are at Fire Hall 2, located at Ecorse Road, west of Belleville Road.

The motion to create the additional precincts was made by Mrs. Pat Cullin, who was supported by Township Treasurer Frederick Birk. The board approved the motion unanimously.

Dems to install new officers

The annual Installation of Officers Banquet of the Van Buren-Belleville Democratic Club will be held March 10 at Rogalle's Banquet Room, located at Haggerty Road and the I-94 Expressway.

The banquet will begin with a cocktail hour at 7 p.m. followed by a hot and cold buffet. A brief business meeting will be held prior to the installation of newly-elected officers.

The new officers are Mrs. Marguerite Greathouse, president; George Craven, vice president; Mrs. Barbara Miller, recording secretary; Ed O'Brien, treasurer; and the board members-at-large are Rod Bly, Tom Kelly and Ted Zywicki. Bill Hilden was elected sergeant-at-arms.

A special welcome is extended to all young voters to join in this event and meet with local and area Democrats.

Tickets for the occasion are available for a $10 donation. Call 697-8179 or 697-8478 before noon March 6 for tickets.

Romulus places 3rd

Simons' national record is halted at 24

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

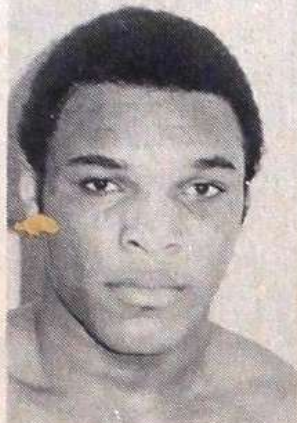

There was good news - and bad - from the regional wrestling tournament staged Saturday at Walled Lake Western.

The bad first: Belleville's phenomenal senior wrestler, Keith Simons, saw his national consecutive pin victory stop at 24. Simons, however, was one of two area preps who captured gold medals at the regional. He took his in the heavyweight class.

The other gold medalist was Romulus' 167-pound senior John Arrington who led the Eagles to their best regional

Inkster's answer to Court

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

On Feb. 14, there appeared in the Sports Meridian a column devoted to the Inkster High School and Romulus basketball game. In the column I quoted Romulus High's head basketball Coach David Court who criticized extensively the conditions that prevailed at Inkster during the time of the game.

Here is a response by Inkster High School officials to that column and Mr. Court's statements.

Dear Mr. Mooradian:

In regards to Mr. Court's flowery innuendos in your article dated Monday, February 14th recapping the Romulus - Inkster basketball game, we would like to make a few brief remarks. We do not, however, consider this as an answer to his unfounded accusations, for we can not force ourselves to become as trite as the afore mentioned.

We are, nevertheless, very much surprised that an educator, an athletic coach, a mold of characters can derive such satisfaction in his attempt to sooth the wounds of defeat. When, in fact, he, above all, should be establishing examples for his young men to follow; not only, of how to play the game, but how to respond (properly) to both winning and losing.

We must say that the Romulus players did, in fact, respond quite properly and like gentlemen.

The sizeable lead that Romulus enjoyed going into the second half was the rationale for our observations. Coach Court had very little to say in a negative fashion, up to about the third quarter, but as soon as the Inkster boys exploded (in their scoring) Court erupted and on several occasions jumped up from his seat cursing at some of his players.

His actions afforded the spectators the opportunity of not only viewing a basketball game, but the added attraction of a one-ring circus-with Court performing in that ring.

It seems that Gary Refitt, the Belleville distance runner, is getting the breaks before the track season even starts. And those breaks he could do without. While practicing, the 17-year-old senior broke his ankle bone and apparently is doomed to watch the others run this season.

Mrs. Luther Refitt, Gary's mother, says her son is determined to make it back into Coach Ken Head's lineup.

"Mr. Head is a terrific coach," says Mrs. Refitt, "and he'll have to perform a miracle to get Gary in shape. The boy just couldn't keep his toes from the wall, I guess. Sorry about that," says Mrs. Refitt.

Oh, all's well, that mends well, Mrs. Refitt.

Richard Wizzgird and Karen Rocheleau claimed the top position in the men and women's division of the high single game department following the most recent meeting of the Romulus Teacher's bowling league, operating out of Wayne Bowl.

runnerup spot, but it'll be a dogfight with Edsel Ford." Edsel nipped Belleville in regular season competition. The diving preliminaries for the league meet are today at 2:30 p.m. Swimmers will begin action tomorrow at 6:30 p.m. with all finals slated for Friday at 8 p.m.

Meanwhile, Belleville wrapped up the dual meet season with an impressive victory over league rival, Trenton 68-37. Dean Ackron, a double winner, also posted a record for the 400-yard freestyle. He was clocked in the winning time of 4:05.2, which clipped Kurt Cullin's mark of 4:06.4. Dean also won the 200-yard freestyle with a 1:56.2 finish.

Another Belleville record toppled in the 100-yard backstroke. Though Brad Susterka finished second in the event with a 1:00.8, the time bettered the previous school mark of 1:01.8. The winning time was 1:00.5.

Belleville's 200-yard medley relay team also equalled the school record for the event as Jim Ackron, Jeff Fry, Terry Mills and Barry Susterka were clocked in 1:48.6.

Here are the results of the meet:

200 YARD MEDLEY RELAY: 1. BELLEVILLE (Barry Susterka, Jim Ackron, Jeff Fry, Terry Mills) 1:48.6; 2. TRENTON (Mann, Smith, Byrd and Clark) 1:55.5;

100 YARD BACKSTROKE: 1. Church (T) 1:00.5; 2. Brad Susterka (B) 1:00.8; 3. Smith (T);

100 YARD BREASTSTROKE: 1. Jocks (T) 1:07.0; 2. Stead (B) 3. Hoffman (T);

400 YARD FREESTYLE RELAY: 1. BELLEVILLE (Steve Reahner, Bill Hennells, Jeff Liedel, Kirk Cullin) 3:41.2; 2. TRENTON (Byrd, Clark, Locke, Beahner) 3:45.0

The Long, turbulent and frustrating league season came to an end for New Boston Huron High's quintet Friday night. And at the end was a 78-40 defeat at the hands of Grosse Ile, one of the three teams that split the Huron Conference championship.

Flat Rock and Airport finished in a three-way "dead heat" with Grosse Ile. Each had 10-2 records.

"We were never really in the game after the first quarter," remarked Coach Andy Herman, whose Chiefs finished the league year with a 1-11 record. The one victory helped them to avert the cellar slot which was occupied by winless Monroe Jefferson.

Grosse Ile, a prime candidate to win the district championship which the New Boston high school is hosting, leaped on the Chiefs in the first quarter 27-10 and never national record by falls at 21 a couple of weeks ago, then stretched it to 23 at the districts, won the first regional match on a fall beating Milford's Joe Milkulic in 2:26 to set the mark at 24.

However, Ypsilanti's Greg Boik managed to go the distance with the Belleville heavyweight, losing to him 10-1. Simons won the regional title when he pinned Walled Lake Western's Tim Burchum in 2:48.

Simons could become the first Belleville High athlete ever to win a state wrestling crown and may also be the first to ever win a state title in any sport at that high school.

Coach Tom Fritz viewed the end of Simons' national streak with mixed feelings. "I hated to see him snap the streak, but again, it took a lot of pressure off of him."

"Now he can concentrate on winning the state title," said Fritz.

Belleville's only other qualifier was Garcia who won a silver medal in the 126-pound after beating Wayne's Larry Silvestri, 4-2 and Brad Smith (Romulus), 6-1. He lost to Ypsilanti's C.J. Cooley in the finals 12-8.

Stallings' had plenty of superlatives to use for his team's performance at the regionals. He felt that the time off during the Christmas vacation paid off so that "the boys would peak just about this time when it was important."

It also is the first time in the history of the school that four wrestlers have qualified for the state finals.

Arrington, who has an excellent crack at the state crown in the 170 pound class, captured his gold by beating Mark Reed (Milford) in 1:25. He then dethroned Terry Bultz (Bedford) 9-3 and Mark Curby (Ann Arbor Pioneer), 4-0.

Arrington has now piled up an awesome 26-1 won-lost over-all record on the season.

Teammate Aaron Cross was robbed of a gold medal when he lost a 2-1 decision to Pioneers' Mike Garris who claimed 2-1 victory over the Eagle grappler. Cross had disposed of Dean Rhoades (Milford), 3-0, in the first round, then beat Doug Whistler (Bentley) 9-4.

Brad Smith, who is only a sophomore, jolted the No. 1 seeded Jeff Angelosant in the first round 12-8. The Livonia Stevenson grappler was a favor to win the 128-pound class bout.

looked back. The Islanders held a commanding 46-20 halftime edge and allowed their visitors only six points in the third quarter while they ripped the nets for 16 to turn the score with a 62-26 runaway going into the final frame.

BELATED PRESENTATION — With all the excitement and rush of the 10th annual Western Wayne Swimming & Diving Invitational, held recently at Belleville High, Belleville coach Sam Vicchy (at left) didn't for the two determined quintets in the second quarters as well with Neely and Mike Garland doing most of the scoring for the local team. They dropped in six and four points respectively as the Tigers knotted the score on three occasions but were never able to get the go ahead basket. They wound up one basket short for a tie at halftime (32-30).

Belleville maintained the incessant flow of pressure on the newly-crowned champs in the third quarter until the controversial call that led to ejecting the Tiger coach from the game. The hosts then moved out in front 58-41 and were never seriously challenged after that as Belleville decided to go with its bench strength in the last quarter.

Neely had an outstanding night and he dumped in seven field goals and one free throw for 15 points to lead the Tigers. Teammates Cicotte and Garland also broke the double figure mark with 12 and 11 points respectively.

Belleville was also hot at the free throw line where it cashed in on 12 of 16 shots as compared to Redford Union's 22 of 33.

Bob Schaner, who was on target for nine field goals and seven free throws for 25 points was the game's top scorer. He led a balanced R.U. attack which also featured Mark Keeney's 19 points, Mark

IN PERSON — Driving past two grounded Troy cagers is none other than Horace Person (34) who flies in for a dog shot. Person and Romulus did their thing again Friday night as they walloped the visiting Troy quintet 91-61 for their 15th victory against two losses of the season. The over-all Romulus record is the best in the school's cage history.

Romulus cagers set record

In his second year as Romulus High's head basketball coach Dave Court is establishing records that future teams may have difficulty equalling.

Court's Eagles bombed Troy 91-61 Friday night to wind up the regular season play with a 15-2 over-all record, which is a school record. It bettered the mark set last year by Court's 1971 model-14-7.

"We're still not satisfied," said Court. "We have a lot of room for improvement and, remember, we have a couple of juniors and sophomores on this team who will be back with us next year."

Romulus held the Troy scoring machine to less than 70 points and it was the first time in two years any Troy opponent has been able to accomplish that feat.

With Calvin Harris and John Long hitting for 10 points each, Romulus broke open the game in the third quarter when the Eagles outscored their visitors 30-12. It gave Court a chance to turn his subs loose who also accounted for a 20-point final frame.

"I'm really pleased with our defense," said Court. "It's been our forte and if we play a strong defensive game, I know that we will get our share of the baskets."

All five starters hit in double figures for Romulus. Long, who poured in 10 baskets and a free throw for 21 points, was the game's individual scoring leader. Teammates James Hall and Harris pumped in 19 and 18 points respectively while Ken McMann and Tony Owens contributed 14 and 12 for the winners who made 42 baskets - also a school record for a single game.

The Eagles also dumped in seven of nine chances at the free throw line.

Two Browns - Dan and Mike - paced Troy's attack with 16 points each, while Mike Reed and Bill McElreath chipped in 13 and 10 for the losers who looked good at the charity stripe where they capitalized on 13 of 16 shots.

Earlier last week, Romulus pulled away from a 15-9 first quarter edge as Harris and Hall each sank six points in the second quarter to lead the Eagles to a 32-19 halftime margin and a 71-50 rout of Cranbrook.

Harris and Hall each collected 18 points to share top scoring honors for the game and Long was nearby with 17. Cranbrook had only one player in double figures. Bill Harbeck made good on six baskets and four free throws for 16 points.

Romulus, the host to a Class

A district tournament for the first time in recent years, played Taylor Kennedy Monday night in the first round of competition. The winner advances to the semi-finals tonight and will take on Wayne Memorial. Inkster played Taylor Kennedy last night and the winner of the game will take on Westland John Glenn tomorrow.

The championship at Romulus will be decided Saturday night.

All games are at 7 p.m.

Grosse Ile routs Huron in finale

None of the Huron players was in double figures. The closest to two figures was Dan Clark who had seven points.

Grosse Ile's Mark Howard who dumped in six baskets and made four free throws for 16 points was the game's leading scorer. Also in double figures were Dave Ryder, who had 15 and Don Calhoun who had 11.

Grosse Ile also was busy at the free throw line where they made 22 of 37 shots. Huron capitalized upon 12 of 20 charities.

Six teams gathered at Huron High Monday night to battle for the district "B" title and the right to represent the district at the regional playoffs. Among the contenders for the championship are: Flat Rock, Grosse Ile, Allen Park, Cabrini, Carlson, and Huron.

Huron and Carlson met Monday night to see which of the two would take on Grosse Ile tonight in the semi-final round. The championship will be decided Friday night at 7:30 p.m.

Arrington, Simons win gold medals

However, Smith then lost a 6-1 decision to Belleville's Garcia, but went on in the consolation bracket to stop Wayne's Larry Silvestri, 3-1 and Ann Arbor Huron's Charles Griffith 1-0. Williams, who also will be back next year (he's a junior) downed Barry Smeltzer (Farmington Harrison) in 2:51 and Ray Howe (Melvindale), 9-2, but lost to West Bloomfield's Gary Hockenberry and Dearborn's Richard Copp.

Ypsilanti got the most mileage out of its personnel as the Braves accumulated 53 points to win the regional championships. Trailing in order were Bedford (34), Romulus (31), Ann Arbor Pioneer (31), Ann Arbor Huron (28), Walled Lake Central (27), Belleville (23), Walled Lake Western (22½), Farmington (20½) and John Glenn (19½).

There were 43 high schools represented at the Walled Lake Western regional.

GOOD SHOT, GOODEN — Sandwiched between Kevin Morgan (33) and Russ Peard (25), Romulus' Gooden (44) goes upward for a pop shot while teammate Don Hamilton (10) awaits the rebound. The Eagles were on target against their visitors, turning them back 91-61 for their 15th victory of the current campaign.

deaths soar

Other than the presence of automobiles, darkness has been a common factor in 13, or 68 per cent, of Michigan's 19 snowmobile deaths so far. National statistics show that more snowmobiles are killed or injured between 6 p.m. and 10 p.m. than at any other time.

Just as liquor has played a major part in more than 50 percent of all auto accidents, police have indicated it also has been a factor in many snowmobile fatalities and serious injuries as well.

The Romulus City Players recently staged their winter production, "Winnie The Pooh", to the delight of area children in attendance.

The largest audience to attend a dramatic presentation in Romulus High School Auditorium viewed the play.

Credit for success is given to the Romulus Area PTA Council, which sold tickets and publicized the play in local PTA chapters, and our neighbors, the Belleville Community Players, who helped promote the play in their city.

Involvement included Romulus High School art students who designed posters for local elementary schools.

The growing ranks of the amateur group (its first production was "Paddle Your Own Canoe" last summer) will be led by newly elected officers, Ted Martin, Kay Zaika, Arlene Pheilsticker and Ann Hatten.

The Romulus City Players are co-sponsored by the Romulus Department of Parks and Recreation and, through use of facilities, the Romulus community school system.

Residents are invited to join. Call 427-4068 for more information.

Tentative plans call for a summer production. Also, summer will mark the beginning of a program in dramatics designed especially for children.

While members of The Romulus City Players choose their next play, The Romulus High School Theatre Arts Club will be producing "Up The Down Staircase" for evening performances April 28-29.

Car inspections show higher passage rate

While Michigan vehicle inspection figures show a gradual increase in the percentage passed by check lanes in the past five years, participating police express concern over the high rate of rejection of some safety-related equipment.

Col. John R. Plants, state police director, said.

Plants reviewed a report by his department's traffic division which showed a passing rate of 31.4 per cent for 321,600 vehicles in inspections made in 1971 by state police and 23 local police departments.

Some improvement in Michigan motorist attitudes toward vehicle maintenance and repair was credited by check lane officers for the state's better passing rate.

In the random check program's first year, 1967, the passing rate was 18.9. The next year it was 25.8. Then it rose to 27.9 in 1969 and to 30.3 in 1970.

Plants cited these findings from the 1971 summary:

1. One in four vehicles had one or more tread-bare tires.
2. One in six vehicles had brake deficiencies.
3. One in two vehicles had light defects of some sort.
4. Late model vehicles had deficiencies too, which involved 46 per cent of the 1970 models tested, 31 per cent of 1971 vehicles, and 19 per cent for the 1972 models.
5. Driver license violations were issued to 24,494 persons. This included 1,261 drivers with revoked or suspended licenses.
6. Citations were issued to a total of 66,838 drivers either for violation of equipment laws or of driver or vehicle credential laws.

Faust co-sponsors

State bill regulating migrant camps OK'd

Legislation cosponsored by State Sen. William Faust (D-Westland) that provides for the licensing and regulation of migratory labor camps passed the Michigan Senate last week.

The measure will eliminate difficulties that have been experienced in administering the migrant labor camp licensing program.

"This legislation," said Faust, "will establish stronger standards for migrant worker camps in Michigan. It will also improve the program enforcement by permitting local health agencies to take part and provide adequate protection for migrant workers when serious health and safety hazards exist in the camp."

"Loopholes in the present state law," he said, "have allowed camp owners to violate various sections because it was impossible to prove in court that terms of the law had been violated."

"The legislation passed by the Senate will close these loopholes and stop camp owners from circumventing the law."

Belleville soldier wins army medal

A Belleville army sergeant has been presented with an award for "outstanding meritorious service" while serving as chief enlisted advisor, 2nd Brigade, 70th Division (Training) Flint.

He is Sgt. Maj. Jimmie L. Ellis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude E. Ellis of 930 E. Huron River Dr.

Ellis is assigned to Advisor Team 51, United States Military, Vietnam Assistance Command. In the U.S. Army for 27 years he has been in Vietnam for five months.

The citation for the Meritorious Service Medal, presented by Col. Joseph R. Franklin, C.O. 21st Division Combat Assistance Team, Advisor Team 51, Ca Mau Run on Feb. 17 states:

"Sgt. Major Ellis distinguished himself by outstanding meritorious service while assigned to the U.S. Army Advisor Group (USAR), Indianapolis, from Aug. 26 1969 to Aug. 30 1971.

Serving as Chief Enlisted Advisor, 2nd Brigade, 70th Division (Training), Flint, Michigan, he displayed unusual initiative, professional competence, and sound judgment in the performance of his complex duties and achieved optimum results.

"Through his detailed knowledge of training principles and techniques, and his exceptional ability to impart clear, concise instructions, he enabled the unit he served to achieve outstanding progress in organization, administration and training."

"By his unflinching devotion to duty and practiced diplomacy in association with personnel of the United States Army Reserves he contributed immeasurably to the smooth accomplishment of the mission of the U.S. Army Advisor Group (USAR)."

"Sgt. Maj. Ellis' enthusiastic application of military and professional knowledge, pride in accomplishment, and ability to produce results of the highest caliber reflect credit upon himself and the military service."

The measure also provides that each day a violation of state law is allowed to continue constitutes a new violation.

A labor camp is defined as land and all tents, vehicles, buildings or other structures used as living quarters for five or more migratory workers.

A migratory worker under the act would be a person working or available for work, who moves seasonally one or more times from one place to another from within or without the state for work.

Faust said that the proposed legislation stipulates that a person who violates a law on migrant labor camps would be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Two kennel licenses OK'd

Applications for two kennel license renewals have been approved by the Van Buren Township Board.

The applications were filed by Ernest Mimms of 41903 Savage Rd., and Don F. DeTar of 40504 Tyler Rd., both of Belleville.

May be completed this summer

Road improvement planned

The Sumpter Road improvement program is scheduled to get under way this summer.

Present planning, according to Wayne County Highway Engineer, W.P. Meyers, calls for applying for federal aid secondary funds to supplement the amount allocated in the asphaltic resurfacing program for the improvement of Sumpter Road.

Through persistent efforts initiated by Township Supervisor Elmer Parraghi, assisted by State Rep. Edward E. Mahalak and other township officials, the Wayne County Road Commission included Sumpter Road improvements in $12.7 resurfacing program for the entire county.

In a hearing before the road commission on July 15, 1971, Parraghi claimed the road was too narrow and a traffic hazard. He also pointed out the bad conditions of the road. Township residents as well as outsiders have been complaining about the condition of Sumpter Road for years.

Township officials reported that Sumpter Road is approximately a 40-year-old, 18-foot wide Class B road which runs directly through the center of Sumpter Township.

Parraghi reported at the hearing that a major problem is caused by the use of Sumpter Road by large double-tandem 9-foot wide trucks that haul trash and garbage to a large sanitary land fill located in the township.

He said the road was not wide enough to accommodate the trucks with other traffic safely and the shoulders, ranging four feet to eight feet in width also were inadequate to accommodate trucks when they had to pull off the road.

Rep. Mahalak and other members of the township board also appeared before the road commission.

Van Buren fire runs listed for January

Van Buren Township fire Departments have reported on their January activities.

The reports were submitted to the township board by Fire Commissioner Joseph Hogan, who is also a member of the township board.

Fire Department No. 1, located on Fourth Street, west of Main Street had seven fire calls during the month. They were these apartment house fires at the Knob on the Lake apartment complex, two house fires, and two assistance runs involving fires in Sumpter and Ypsilanti townships. The January payroll amounted to $888.

Fire Department No. 2, located on Ecorse Road, just west of Belleville Road, had eight fire runs. They were three house fires, two apartment fires (assisted at the fire at Knob on the Lake), one grass fire, one false alarm and an assistance run to Ypsilanti Township in battling the Michigan Consolidated Gas Co., plant fire.

The January payroll amounted to $954.

Infant son is baptized in Taylor

Kevin Michael Faulkner was two months old when he received the sacrament of baptism at St. Alfred's Church in Taylor last Saturday evening. His parents, Michael and Joan Faulkner later entertained at a pot-luck dinner at their Hively Street home in Inkster.

The baby's complete christening ensemble was made by various members of Mrs. Faulkner's family - the gown was knitted by her mother; the hooded cape and shawl crocheted by the baby's God-mother; and hat, mittens, booties, and sweater were made by an older sister.

Guests included the baby's sponsors, Jenny Bailey, here for the event from London, England; and Pete Faulkner, the infant's uncle. Also all 22 members of the Faulkner family and Kevin's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Ann Harrison, here for a month's visit from South Wales; and his paternal grandparents, William and Irene Faulkner of Hyde Park, Romulus, who recently purchased a new home in Inkster.

A beautifully decorated cake was a gift from "Faulkner's Family Bakers" - Harold and Carlotta (Faulkner) Marken.

Wedding planned

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Dwornik of 44780 Robson Road, Belleville, announce the engagement of their daughter, Cynthia, to Pierre Lemieux, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Yerebeck of 960 Terrace View, Jerome, Michigan.

Miss Dwornik was graduated from Belleville High School in 1970 and is currently an employee of the Ben Franklin Store in Belleville.

A 1968 alumnus of West Senior High School in Garden City, the prospective bridegroom is presently completing a four-year enlistment in the U.S. Navy. Assigned to the U.S.S. Preble, he is stationed at Pearl Harbor.

Advances in agricultural science - including such ecology-related practices as soil conservation, erosion control and wildlife preservation - have boosted production. Food for 50 million more people is now being provided, using no more land than was required 35 years ago. In fact, if agricultural products were produced on the same per acre rate as in the 1930s, some 292 million acres of land (now put to other uses including natural environment areas) would have to be put back under the plow.

ON THEIR 70th - Mr. and Mrs. Eugene I. Burke, Sr. of 17 Liberty Street, Belleville, observed their 70th wedding anniversary February 25 quietly at home. Mayor Royce Smith stopped by to present them with a letter of congratulation, one of many they received during the week. President and Mrs. Richard M. Nixon sent a personal letter to the couple with telegrams arriving from Governor William Milliken and other Michigan legislators.

Super market shows 'extras'

As a prelude to the gala opening of Taylor's own Chatham Super Market, a special luncheon was held on Wednesday, February 23 at Koth's Colonial House. A group of Taylor's homemakers were given a preview of the "extra" which Chatham plans to offer them in customer service and through their Consumer Affairs Department.

In welcoming the group, Mr. Earl M. Eden, Senior Vice President, Sales and Operations, stressed the Company's desire to serve the needs and wants of its customers in such a way that there will be no doubt of Chatham becoming the "BEST PLACE TO SHOP IN THE COMMUNITY". He introduced Mr. Mort Weinger, Store Manager; Mr. George Lowry, District Manager; and Bonnie De Poorter, Head Cashier, the three people most responsible for providing customer services within the new store.

To illustrate how Chatham is attempting to do more for its customers than merely supplying food needs, Mrs. Marjorie Gibbs, Director of Consumer Affairs for the Company, explained her role as the "voice" of the consumer in helping the Company make better decisions regarding products and services. This department was one of Chatham's "firsts" in the Greater Detroit area!

Customers are being encouraged to contact Mrs. Gibbs through the already established "We're Concerned" program. She is attempting to help them become better informed food shoppers...to better understand the products, packages and prices in the market...to make wise food buying decisions.

To do this, several plans for communicating with consumers are being developed - questionnaires, panels, open meetings (either company or organization sponsored), releases and the organization of a Consumer Council. It is Mrs. Gibbs' sincere belief that "teamwork is the key to mutual success."

The highlight of the luncheon program was a fascinating cutting demonstration presented by Mrs. Edith Wedeking, Director of Quality Kitchens, Staff Supermarkets, Inc., New York. Mrs. Wedeking had "picked up" a random sampling of canned and frozen items under the Staff label and several competitors' brands. The demonstration was a perfect illustration of how private labels may be equal to or higher in quality than national brands - depending entirely upon the projects and the brands themselves. Customers must learn to use the "buy and try" test to determine the quality and the price which best suits their family's needs!

Area women answering the luncheon invitation included Mrs. Dorothy Crook and Mrs. Frances Dick, Past President and President, respectively, Romulus Degree of Honor; Mrs. Esther Ellis, Romulus Literary Club; Miss Vira Petraska, representative of Manufacturer's National Bank; Mrs. Lee Smith, Women's Editor Romulus Roman and Belleville Enterprise; Mrs. Phyllis Bednerek and Mrs. Jean Edwards, representatives Associated Newspapers; Mrs. Jean Darling, Calvary Baptist Church; Mrs. James Foley, Hale Extension Study Club; Mrs. Gustaf Coffman, Belleville Extension Club; Mrs. Val Toth, Lakeview Extension Study Club of Belleville; and Mrs. Frank Johnson, West Eureka Extension Study Club.

Area Girl Scouts mark 'Thinking Day'

Lady Baden Powell, the World Chief Guide for Girl Guiding and Girl Scouting, was born February 22, 1889, and this day each year is designated as "Thinking Day". This is a time when Girl Scouts send greetings to sister Guides across the sea and to sister troops in the United States.

Belleville Scouts did even more. Through songs and games, eight troops "traveled" to many countries - England, Australia, Switzerland, Mexico, Argentina, Germany, and the Belgian Congo - learning the customs, uniforms and badges of each. "Sailing the seas" at Trinity Episcopal Church February 19 were Troops No. 255, 277, 370, 375, 535, 587, and 589. Accompanying the girls were Service Directors Mrs. Mynhart Hargis and Mrs. Richard Jorgensen and Senior Scout Mary White.

LEADERS ATTENDING with their girls were Mrs. Betty Jo Haase, Mrs. Barbara Burelle and Mrs. Joan Monforton and Troop Committee mothers: Mrs. Betty Gotts, Mrs. Laura Domcik, Mrs. Carol Santure, Mrs. Louise Jones, and Mrs. Lois Gibbings.

The closing World Friendship Circle was the climax portraying love, hope and friendship among children throughout the world. The return home from countries far away ended happily as the Girl Scouts repeated the fourth Girl Scout law, "A Girl Scout is a friend to all. We pledge ourselves to friendship and understanding." After exchanging their Girl Scout salute, the group departed.

Getting married? Tell us about it

Want to share that 'special day' with those who are unable to be present, in person, for your wedding ceremony? We'll write the details of your wedding in story form for you - and at no charge - if you'll simply follow a few guidelines.

The Belleville Enterprise and Romulus Roman offer bridal questionnaires for you to fill out as well as engagement forms for announcing the 'start of it all.'

Forms may be picked up at our office, 405 Main Street, (we're in the old Township Hall now) anytime during the week or will be mailed out if a telephone request is made. Call the Women's Editor at 697-9191.

Girl Scout troop formed

A new Junior Girl Scout troop has been formed at Elwell Elementary School. On February 23, Troop No. 589 was officially invested with the following new members taking part: Jamie Harrison, Kim Pratt, Karen Burelle, and Winona Stettler.

Rededication for Brownie fly-ups included Linda Williams, Diane Pavelka, Bridget Johnson, Carmen Sue Smith, Alisha Ray, Gail Conley, Carla Dryer, Cathy Armatis, and Michele Jeffery.

Committee mothers are Martha Conley, Catherine Harrison, Evelyn Johnson, and Donna Jeffery and Pat Ray is committee chairman. Leader Barbara Burelle and assistant leader Cindy Pavelka were also pinned.

Wash raw mushrooms. Add 1/2 teaspoon salt to 1 quart rapidly boiling water. (To keep mushrooms white, add 1/2 teaspoon lemon juice to boiling water.) Add mushrooms. Let water come to boil again. Boil mushrooms three minutes. Rinse with cold water. Drain thoroughly. Seal in plastic bags. Freeze. Will keep about one year.

Belleville couple mark anniversary - - their 70th!

By LEE SMITH
Women's Editor

It was back in 1902 on a typical February day-unfortunately gloomy and overcast - that Eugene I. Burke and Kathryn Bitler Blume spoke the vows that were to result in 70 years of togetherness. The very special anniversary was observed last Friday, February 25, quietly at home with a flood of letters, cards and telegrams to mark the occasion.

Eugene I. Burke, who at 94 is still able to boast of excellent health, was born in Champagne, Illinois in 1878 and graduated from the University of Illinois in 1900. He married in his fiancée's hometown of Wapakoneta, Ohio, after going into the family banking business. In 1930 he traveled to Chicago to take on the presidency of a new bank which had opened on Michigan Avenue and later went into public relations work for a real estate investment group during which he traveled extensively.

It was in 1933 that the Burkes came to Michigan so that Mr. Burke could take over the general management of the Whittier Hotel in Detroit.

In 1945 Mr. Burke, a Rotarian for 30 years, reached retirement age and then he and his wife took to traveling with the seasons, making Belleville their hometown in 1950. The couple has resided at 17 Liberty Street ever since.

MRS. BURKE, who is 91, was born in Wapakoneta, Ohio in 1880 and was graduated in 1901 from the New England Conservatory of Music in Boston. Following their wedding, she and her husband journeyed via railroad to Toledo and Chicago for their honeymoon. The general mode of transportation in 1902 was horse and buggy with the advent of the automobile off in the not too distant future. The Burkes acquired their first motor vehicle nine years later, in 1911.

It was in 1905 that their only child, Eugene I., Jr., was born and the family tree now includes a granddaughter and one great-grandchild, the junior Burkes being residents of Riverview.

The printed word is the nucleus around which the Burkes build their lives. Mr. Burke, who has an extensive reference library, credits his good liberal education for the satisfaction he gets out of life today. A college student when one wasn't expected to 'specialize' at once, he included zoology, physiology, the arts, and music in his basic education and had 20 extra credit hours chalked up when he received his degree.

Because of this, he says, he's able to converse on any subject and gets great satisfaction from his writings and conversations.

An avid chess player and member of the national system of crossword puzzles, he spends hours writing on matters of today's national concern and has a regular correspondence going with various business men throughout the country - more or less of a pen-pal system, he explained.

ALL THIS he regards as mental therapy. Along with guarding his diet and health very carefully, he is able to stay alert, alive and interesting.

Mrs. Burke, too, is an avid reader and the household is filled with national newspapers and magazines of all sorts. Although she can't claim the excellent health of her husband, she still maintains her own home and keeps the man of the house happy with her home-cooking. The Burkes, who have postponed any 'official' celebration of their 70th anniversary, have a family get-together and dinner to look forward to when the weather is just a little nicer. In the meantime, they enjoy being together indoors with their many interests and memories.

Marmalade and Jelly in chicken classics

Besides its low cost, one of the great advantages of chicken is its versatility. It can be baked, broiled, fried, sauteed, simmered — and it can be enhanced by a wide range of flavorings and sauces.

If you are inclined to repeat a few favorite recipes, you are missing out on the enjoyment of many great chicken specialties. For example, the following Chicken a L'Orange and Chicken Normandy are two famous dishes that turn everyday chicken into gourmet fare. Responsible for their good flavor and easy preparation is the use of convenient, ready-to-use fruit preserves — orange marmalade and apple jelly.

CHICKEN A L'ORANGE

1 3-pound chicken, quartered
Salt and paprika
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1 medium onion, chopped
1 clove garlic, chopped
Juice of 1 lemon
1/2 cup orange marmalade
1/2 cup chicken broth
Sprinkle chicken with salt and paprika. Melt butter in a large skillet; add chicken and brown on all sides. Remove chicken. Drain off all fat except 2 tablespoons. Add onion and garlic and saute until tender. Stir in lemon juice, orange marmalade and chicken broth. Cook, stirring, until marmalade melts.

Return chicken to skillet. Cook uncovered over low heat for 35 to 40 minutes or until tender, spooning sauce over chicken occasionally. If desired, garnish with orange slices and parsley.
Makes 4 servings.

CHICKEN NORMANDY

1 3-pound chicken, quartered
Salt
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1 medium onion, thinly sliced
1 stalk celery, thinly sliced
1/2 cup apple jelly
Juice of 1 orange
1/2 cup chicken broth
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1/8 teaspoon thyme
2 tablespoons brandy (optional)

Sprinkle chicken with salt. Melt butter in a large skillet; add chicken and brown on all sides. Remove chicken. Drain off all fat except 2 tablespoons. Add onion and celery and saute until tender. Add apple jelly, orange juice, chicken broth, parsley, thyme and brandy. Cook, stirring, until jelly melts. Return chicken to skillet. Cook uncovered over low heat for 35 to 40 minutes or until tender, spooning sauce over chicken occasionally during cooking.
Makes 4 servings.

SWEET TOUCH FOR CHICKEN CLASSICS — Orange marmalade simplifies the sauce preparation for this French classic, Chicken a l'Orange. Other ingredients contributing to its pleasing flavor are chopped onion and lemon juice. Suggested accompaniment shown in the background is Duchess Potatoes.

Old acquaintances re-newed on recent trip to Florida

By MRS. JOSEPH SPRING
OX 9-4021

The Merle Touses recently returned from a two week Florida vacation. They spent four days with the Gale Touses near Clearwater, seeing the sights in Tarpon Springs. Weeki Wachee, the new Tampa Airport, and dining at the Kapok Tree Inn.

While visiting Ed and Lela Gordon at their new condominium home in Pinellas Park, they saw the Aquatarium, Treasure Island, and the Gulf Beach, attended services at St. Luke's Methodist Church, and dined at the Lamport Inn.

One delightful day was spent at fabulous Disneyworld near Orlando.

While on the trip they called on Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gotts in Largo, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schaefer and Mrs. Mildred Cady and daughters in St. Petersburg, Mr. and Mrs. Walter John in Palmetto, the Earl Hollars in Charlotte Harbor, and Mr. Touse's cousins, Fern and George McDowell in Tampa.

The Gordons and the Gotts send greetings to their many friends in the Belleville area.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Speaks, Jr. of Alva Dr. are announcing the birth of a baby girl, Roxann Alice, at Garden City Hospital on Thursday, February 17, weight seven pounds. The proud grandmothers are Mrs. Alice Frudd of Reed City and Mrs. Pat Speaks of Alva Dr.

Mrs. Henry McMullan has been a patient at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital for the past two weeks, Room 750.

Among the many cards of congratulation that Mr. and Mrs. Eugene I. Burke Sr. of 17 Liberty St. have been receiving on their 70th wedding anniversary is one from President and Mrs. Richard Nixon mailed just before they left on their trip to China.

Due to poor weather conditions the Burkes plan to postpone their celebration until spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Vinton McAtee of W. Columbia Ave. returned home on Tuesday of last week after a 10-day trip to Florida. While there they spent some time at Brookville with Mrs. McAtee's mother, Mrs. Myrrh Hartman, and then visited with former Harmony Lane residents, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Whitney, at Clearwater.

Luther Reffitt Jr., assistant Manager of the Best Western Motels of Wisconsin, visited his parents, the senior Reffitts, of 10604 Quirk Rd., last week-end.

Suzanne Stevens of Liberty St. left last Thursday morning with the Nomad's group flying to Fort Lauderdale, Florida, for a four-day holiday at Schrafft's Inn on the Ocean.

On Monday afternoon, February 21st a group of friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mrs. Leo Gloyd on E. Huron River Dr. to celebrate her 92nd birthday. Among the 16 present were son, Harold and wife, from Allen Park. The afternoon was spent socially with ice cream and cake being served later.

Women set up civic affairs club

Several Romulus women interested in civic affairs met recently with the staff representative from the YWCA of Western Wayne County to formulate plans for a YW Wives Club.

Instead of an interest in home decorating, crafts or gardening, these women are concerned with some of the problems of Romulus, a new and growing city.

They want to know the effect of such problems on the persons living in the city.

While some people are apathetic and others complain without doing, these women have decided to become an informed action group. They are meeting twice a month to learn, listen and discuss and act upon matters pertinent to them and their community.

The women of the initial group included Mrs. Carol Schimmel, Mrs. Rosemarie Pockl, Mrs. Carol Martin, Mrs. Gloria Morofsky and Mrs. Elaine Maxim.

Any women who wish to find out more about the club or who wishes to become involved are asked to call Miss Grey at LO 1-4110.

TEACHER WINS TROPHY — Mrs. Mark Wegienka (left) of 25337 Eureka Rd., Taylor, a kindergarten teacher at the Harrison Elementary School in Romulus, is presented with a silver loving cup trophy for procuring the most parents to join the school's PTA during a recent membership drive. Mrs. John Braithwaite, PTA president, makes the presentation.

Oversupply of teachers is large problem in Michigan

The State Board of Education has received a study showing Michigan has an oversupply of teachers and prospects for new teacher availability that, if unchanged, will constitute a problem of monstrous proportions by 1980.

"This is the first really hard analysis of the trend that we have known existed for some time," said state board President Dr. Edwin L. Novak, Flint. "It shows clearly we are producing thousands of qualified teachers who are not and won't be needed in the classroom."

"It not only supports and gives added impetus to certain steps which the board has already taken in this area, it also points ways in which we must chart our future course so that young people are not misled into training for teaching positions that simply won't be there."

"Perhaps equally important, the compilation of these data and the indications for the future that they provide should lead us to seek ways in which those already qualified to teach, but unable to find jobs, can be retrained or otherwise utilized to the maximum benefit of society," Novak said.

The study does not attempt to pinpoint exactly how many qualified teachers are not now teaching — either by choice or because they cannot find jobs — but cites existing evidence that clearly indicates there is now an oversupply of teachers. Emphasis of the study is on projections of supply and demand from this point forward.

"Supply and demand are simply out of balance in the teacher job market," Novak said.

"Qualified teachers from all sources — mainly Michigan public and private institutions of higher learning, and out-of-state institutions are expected to supply Michigan with 21,561 teachers available for jobs in 1971-72 alone."

"Even an optimistic estimate of need would be that 8,338 new teachers will be able to find jobs in 1971-72, and the need may only be on the order of 5,211 new teachers."

"These figures from the data in our study clearly say that in terms of newly trained teachers alone, Michigan will for the 1971-72 year have an oversupply of at least 13,222 teachers, and perhaps as high as 16,350 new teachers for whom there are no jobs," Novak said. "And this is without even taking into account those qualified to teach who for one reason or another are not teaching right now."

"If present trends in teacher training continue as projected, Michigan will have available an average of about 15,000 to 19,000 new teachers, for whom no teaching jobs are projected, every year through 1980," Novak said.

"The evidence clearly shows: (1) public and non-public school enrollments, which determine need for teachers, will level off in this decade; (2) the gross annual supply of teachers will greatly exceed demands, if present and projected trends persist; and (3) there is no longer any pressure on teacher education institutions for high volume teacher production."

"For more than a quarter of a century we lived with a shortage of teachers and spent enormous effort trying to catch up with demand. 'We have caught up with the demand,' Novak said.

Limitations in the study received by the board are fully recognized, and variations from the projections may well arise from many factors that would or could increase — or decrease — demand for new teachers.

"But even allowing for the possibility of large error — and we really don't think the projected supply and demand figures are very far wrong — the trends are so unmistakable that we must do things right now to start dealing with this new problem," Novak said.

"What are some of the things that might be done?" "First, data presented to the State Board of Education show that there is some geographical inequity in teacher supply and demand — that is, certain kinds of teachers can't be found where they are needed. Also, there are some vacancies in certain teaching specialties. The board will undertake to identify the precise dimensions and causes of these kinds of thing, and decide how to deal with them."

"Second, we need to warn parents and young people that they should take a hard look at this supply and demand situation before deciding on teaching as a potential career."

"Third, we will want to pursue certain courses already set in motion by the board that will assure only the best and most highly qualified teachers are actually employed in the classroom. This will, it may be assumed, include a careful look at competency and performance screening of some sort, both prior to full certification as a teacher and after placement in the classroom."

"Fourth," Novak said, "board members clearly indicated that we must search for steps that will utilize the great talent pool of teachers in new ways — retraining, new programs, or what have you — to the benefit of our citizens."

Novak noted that Michigan teacher training institutions produce a large percentage of the national total of teachers graduated each year, and there are additional factors making Michigan attractive for teachers.

"Michigan teacher salaries now rank among the highest in the nation."

Review board sets meetings

The City of Belleville's Board of Review will hold its annual hearings on March 7 and March 14 at the municipal building, located at 6 Main St., Belleville.

The hours of the hearings will be from 9 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 4 p.m., Irwin W. Stech, city clerk, announced.

Brings together 100

Ecumenical meet held

The first in a series of meetings of the Belleville Ecumenical Council brought together about 100 people in the Father Folta building of St. Anthony Catholic Church on West Columbia Street in Belleville.

Father Raymond S. Skoney, as host pastor, led opening devotions based on the liturgy of the Word. Scripture passages from First Corinthians, speaking of the scandal of divisions within the Church, and from John 17, portion of Jesus' prayer for unity, set the tone for the evening.

A high point of the devotions was the group joining in confessing our common faith, using the contemporary version of the Apostles' Creed.

Serving as discussion leader, William Jenkins introduced the presentation and discussion portion of the evening by stating the purpose of the ecumenical council — "To develop communication and understanding between churches." A filmstrip, "A Foundation for Dialogue," opened with a brief summary of the Reformation and the development of ecumenism.

The formation of the World Council of Churches, which includes more than 200 denominations throughout the world, and Vatican II and its subsequent actions developed further an understanding of the ecumenical movement.

A series of pictures on the Catholic Church centered on and explained the seven Sacraments and stressed the fact that the Holy Eucharist is the focal point and undergirds Catholic faith and life.

Following the filmstrip showing, the group broke up into 10 small groups for brief buzz sessions out of which came one significant question from each group directed to Father Skoney for response. A panel of the other clergymen present also participated in the question and answer period.

Presentation of frames explaining the faith and practices of the Lutheran Church was followed by the same form of development of questions to be answered by Pastor Koch of the Lutheran Church of the Apostles. The evening closed with a prayer and benediction by Pastor Koch.

Participating churches are St. Anthony Catholic Church, Lutheran Church of the Apostles, Belleville United Presbyterian Church, Trinity Episcopal and Belleville First United Methodist Church.

The session on Wednesday, March 1, will be in the Methodist Church and will look at the faith, leadership and Christian life of the Presbyterian, Episcopal and Methodist churches. The public is invited to the 7:30 p.m. meeting.

ECUMENICAL COUNCIL MEETS — The first of a series of meetings for the Belleville Ecumenical Council was held at St. Anthony's Catholic Church of Belleville. Checking over the evening's program are (sitting, from left) Velma Kulzer, First United Methodist of Belleville; Margaret Pellicchia, St. Anthony's Catholic Church of Belleville; Mary Boyd, United Presbyterian Church of Belleville; and Michael Ives, St. Anthony's Catholic Church. Standing (from left) are Merle Touse of the First United Methodist Church of Belleville, and Patti Grace of the Lutheran Church of the Apostles in Belleville. The first meeting brought together approximately 100 persons.

Bumpers, warranty top auto developments

General Motors' crash-resistant bumpers and American Motors' blanket warranty were chosen the most worthwhile developments in 1972 cars by 16 of 25 top auto writers across the country who responded to a questionnaire posed by the Automobile Club of Michigan's Motor News magazine.

Complete results of the survey are published in the February issue of Motor News, reaching over one million Auto Club members throughout Michigan.

As one of the most significant developments in the 1972 models, General Motors' impact-resistant bumpers received support from 64 per cent of the writers. American Motors' new warranty, which covers virtually the entire car for 12 months or 12,000 miles, was heralded by 95 per cent of the poll as another boon for motorists.

The controversial air bag passenger restraint system was disapproved by 76 per cent of the writers who answered the poll - even if air bags added no extra cost to the price of a new car.

Most who disliked the air bag gave fear of accidental inflation as the basic reason. Some told Auto Club they put more faith in a better seatbelt and shoulder harness system.

Again, 76 per cent agreed new car buyers should be given a choice between air bags or some equally effective system, with some adding that the choice should include, "no system at all if the motorist wants none."

Ninety-five per cent of the writers said that the new American Motors warranty plan is a good idea and proof that the auto industry is trying to win consumer favor.

Laurels for the most improved car for 1972 went to Ford, with Torino and Montego figuring prominently. Mechanical changes, not simply new styling, were offered as the reason.

Chevrolet's Vega was chosen for top quality and a good all-around buy in the domestic sub-compact field. Engineering, looks and the concept of a scaled down "Chevy" were given in support of the decision.

Asked which would be the best prospect for leading the U.S. sub-compact sales in 1972, the writers also favored Vega. (The poll was completed before current production problems).

Volkswagen retained its title as best of the foreign sub-compacts, with the Japanese Toyota running a not-so-close second. Boosters of the "Beetle" cited quality, reliability, price and the best dealer network for foreign cars as a hard to beat combination.

Ironically, more than half of the writers agreed that consumer advocate Ralph Nader's criticism of the Volkswagen and VW Minibus is justified. However, many rationalized that the smaller the car, the greater the hazard, and "many buyers willingly accept the risk."

Low price, one of the factors that made many of the imports such a success in 1971, will have less bearing on sales during the 1972 model year.

Although a majority felt the imports' high quality contributed to much of their appeal, 52 per cent believed import sales would decline in the next five years due to domestic competition, rising prices abroad, plus the cost of meeting new safety standards in the U.S.

Most writers thought the current trend in federal legislation on how cars should be built was good, except in the area of cost increases. On that count, 44 per cent felt the new regulations would prove bad in the long run.

"Limousine-driven politicians on expense accounts, in federally bought cars, will tell peons how much to pay for autos," said one writer.

In defending government standards, another said, "It is sure to cost more money, but so far government and pressure groups have made the auto industry do things it said it couldn't."

While there are many good points to the '72 models, most of the writers thought gas mileage and performance would not be among them. Many blamed the trend toward anti-pollution devices.

The federal emissions standards for 1975 and 1976 models were believed too stringent by 60 per cent of the writers, with some even convinced the air today is not all that dangerous.

Asked which car they would buy if cost and upkeep were no factor, most writers preferred the Lincoln Continental Mark IV over Cadillac, with Rolls Royce and Mercedes-Benz close behind.

On the other hand, if economy were the only factor in original cost and upkeep, Volkswagen and Datsun were tied for first with the American Motors Gremlin second.

Thirty-nine U.S. auto writers received the survey, and 25 responded on topics ranging from what they thought was the most improved car for 1972 to which autos they would buy personally.

Agricultural problems eyed at MSU Management Day

Michigan agriculture in the coming decades and current agricultural problems such as whether to buy, lease or hire equipment will be dealt with at Michigan State University's Farm Business Management Day, Thursday, March 23. The program is a new addition to Farmers' Week, an annual event at MSU.

Beginning at 10 a.m. in the Kellogg Center Auditorium, agricultural economists, farm management specialists and experts in resource development will tackle such issues as financing future farm operations, trends in farm management and the future of the farm input supply business.

The afternoon program will deal with how much debt a farmer can carry, the impact of reduced property taxes and making more money in 1972.

The annual Farm Management Banquet, honoring outstanding Michigan farmers, will cap the day-long conference.

John A. Hannah, director of the U.S. Agency for International Development and past president of MSU, will speak at the evening banquet, which begins at 5:50 p.m.

Entertainment, presentation of Outstanding Young Farmer awards by the Michigan Jaycees, and recognition of farm managers of the year and 25-year cooperators will precede Dr. Hannah's talk.

Tickets for the banquet, which is open to the public, are $4.75 each, and may be obtained from John C. Doneth, 27 Agriculture Hall, MSU, East Lansing, 48823.

Pastor attends study

The Rev. Hal Ferris, pastor of the Romulus United Methodist Church, is attending a small group study at the Ecumenical Continuing Education Center at Yale University, New Haven, Conn.

These conferences include seminars, lectures by members of the Yale faculty and independent study.

The conference provides clergy with the opportunity for reflective study and research in the context of personal development and planning to improve their effectiveness.

This conference on "Developing Spiritual Life" is planned to involve religious leaders in dialogue with new research in science, arts, ethics and theological disciplines.

Moose Notes
By EDWARD SHUMBERA

Sorry, brothers, for the lack of news these past weeks. Hope to be better.

New things are happening -- A new membership attendance award program is under way which could be quite rewarding if you are to attend the membership meetings on the second and fourth Wednesday of each month.

How about that all expense paid trip for two couples to Jacksonville, Fla.? The trip will include the round-trip air fare, hotel or motel, and money for a whole week. Pretty good deal, don't you think? Remember, all you have to do is sign up those candidates.

Coming events: re-enrollment "Go-Getter" campaign start March 1; square dancing and regular dancing program is scheduled for March 11 with music by "The Four Naturals," St. Patrick's Dance on March 18

Nursery workshop scheduled March 15

The Huron Valley Council of Cooperative Nurseries has announced its March 15 "Mini Workshop" will be held at the First Methodist Church in Ann Arbor. Husbands are welcome. Workshop sessions will get under way at 8 a.m. following a coffee session.

and an enrollment and dance on March 25 with music by Ted Leonard.

All members who are planning to attend the Michigan Moose State Convention in Saginaw on April 28-30 make your plans now for reservations.

Like to go on a Mystery Trip? Plans are all set to have one on May 6, and it is being sponsored by District 11. Where? It's a mystery, but it will include refreshments, dinner and dancing. See Governor Charles Morton for details and reservations.

Nominations are coming up for your new slate of officers for the 1972-73 year. Check your dues receipt and make sure you will be able to nominate your choice.

Friday night fish-fries are still going strong. The Women of the Moose, Chapter No. 1135, are sure putting out some good eating. If you haven't stopped in yet, plan to do it this Friday, between 5 and 8 p.m. Bring a friend along.

Dr. Lorraine Nadelman will speak on "Sugar and Spice" or "How to Develop Sex Identity in Children," and Elsa Adamason will speak on "Music and Movement." Stephen and Lynn Lewis will speak on "The Montessori School."

Civil Service schedules exams

Sen. William Faust (D-Westland) has announced the State of Michigan will hold examinations for the positions of trades helper and industrial engineer April 22.

Applications for the jobs may be obtained at all Michigan Department of Civil Service, 1601 Cadillac Square Building, and must be returned to the Department of Civil Service by 5 p.m. March 20.

Trades helpers are paid an hourly salary of $3.31 to $3.82 and applicants must be at least 18. Applicants who are 17 years old are eligible if they have a high school diploma.

An open competitive and promotional examination also will be held for several classifications of industrial engineer. The salary for these positions range from $10,878 to $13,070 to $17,309 to $21,882, depending on the classification.

A bachelor's degree in engineering is required for this position at all levels. Depending on the classification, from one to four years experience also is required.

For further information, write the Department of Civil Service, 320 S. Walnut Street, Lansing.

15th Century diets for sailors studied

How would you like to dine on dried fish, honey, dry bread, beans, rice, wine and raisins for three or more months?

Students in section 7-1 of Allan Charette's social studies class at South Junior High in Belleville had the opportunity to sample these foods last week.

As part of their American studies unit, several students wondered what it was like for the sailors of Columbus' time who had to eat this diet.

Research in the school's library and information from the student textbook provided the list of foods.

Students learned that, although the foods on this list are basically nutritious, they do not make a balanced diet.

The sailors of the 15th century often suffered from malnutrition and scurvy because of the lack of certain vitamins.

This in turn affected the general health of the crews and limited the length of each voyage of exploration.

With the help of the School's Home Economics Department, six girls prepared the foods in the classroom-kitchen and served samples of these foods to the class.

The students substituted unsweetened grape juice for wine and cod filets for dried fish.

Ideas for the future already include a comparison of early sea voyages with modern space exploration and a lunch that a typical space explorer might eat.

YOGA, ANYONE? - A variety of activities are being offered to Romulus area residents through the Continuing Education program of the Romulus Community Schools. William Smith, community-school director, announced. One of these activities is the study of yoga. Three students in the present Yoga class at Romulus High School are shown in one of the positions for concentration by instructor Ellen LaRiviere (standing). The students are (from left) Jan Sherbert, Jeff Flint and Janet Dziobak.

Night classes prove popular

Second semester registration statistics for night classes demonstrate greater use of Romulus school facilities than ever before, according to William Smith, community-school director.

Many activities are sponsored through state and federal grants and can be offered free to Romulus area residents, while other classes require a nominal fee to cover instructional costs.

One of the most popular of new winter classes is yoga, a mystic form of exercise involving the senses of concentration. The class is offered through joint sponsorship of the Romulus Continuing Education programs and the Wayne-Westland branch of the YMCA.

Other well-attended activities include favorites such as guitar, cake decorating, macrame and women's fitness. Other new classes for the winter semester are weekly meets of diet watchers, a course in powder puff mechanics, knitting and conversational Spanish.

Credit courses also are offered through the Romulus evening programs. Adults are presented an opportunity to continue high school studies without cost or enroll in certain college-level classes sponsored by Wayne County Community College.

A free basic reading program also is conducted by the Continuing Education department, as well as training programs in certain vocational areas such as auto mechanics and cosmetology.

Individuals wishing to continue their educational careers or participate in the many other evening activities sponsored by the Romulus Community Schools are urged to contact William Smith at the Board of Education Offices, 941-1600.

County commissioners eye reorganization of committees

Sweeping reorganization of its committee structure in order to streamline the legislative process is contemplated by the Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

The board's rules committee has approved a proposal by Board Chairman Robert E. FitzPatrick that the present structure of 14 standing committees, two special committees and 11 subcommittees be reduced to five committees and one subcommittee.

FitzPatrick estimated the new structure would reduce the time taken to consider many items by as much as four weeks.

Of the present structure, only the Ways and Means Committee, which consists of all 26 commissioners, and its special budget committee would be retained. The subcommittee was created to deal with the problem of a potential budget deficit of some $13-million.

The work now handled by the other committees would be distributed among four new committees: Human Resources, General Government, Public Works and Public Safety and Judiciary.

A key change would be elimination of the committee-of-the-whole session which is held at each meeting of the full board on the first and third Thursdays of the month. At present, all items from committees other than Ways and Means must go through the committee-of-the-whole before final consideration.

FitzPatrick proposed that the four new committees each have 11 or 12 members and meet on a specified day each week. Present committees vary in size and meet irregularly at the call of their chairmen.

Unanimous approval of the concept at a Feb. 23 meeting of the rules committee indicated a good chance of approval by the full board.

The rules committee will meet at 10 a.m., March 6, to act on the necessary amendments of the board's rules of procedure, with consideration by the full board anticipated March 16.

In submitting his proposal FitzPatrick stated:

"This Board of Commissioners has, on numerous occasions, discussed the necessity for streamlining and making more effective the operations of various county departments. I believe this streamlining should begin with our own operation and that this revised committee structure is an immediate and positive step in this direction."

The Human Resources Committee would encompass health, education and welfare, economic opportunity, juvenile affairs, human relations, housing and other matters.

General Government would take in legislation, county reorganization, personnel activities, rules, equalization, taxation and apportionment and other governmental matters.

Public Works would encompass transportation, industrial and commercial development, planning and capital improvement, sewer, water, parks and other public works activities.

Public Safety and Judiciary would combine the present law enforcement and public safety committee and the judiciary committee and also handle other matters pertaining to courts and law enforcement.

Woodbury site plan approved

The Van Buren Township Planning Commission has approved a revised site plan for the Woodbury Green residential development at Haggerty Road between Huron River Drive and Robbe Road.

Art Kopelman of Seligman and Associates Inc., of Southfield, developers of Woodbury Green, requested approval of the revised site plan.

Kopelman reported to the planning commission that several suggestions made by a representative of the township's planning consultants, Parkins, Rogers and Associates of Detroit, have been incorporated in the revised site plans.

The planners' approval is contingent upon acceleration, deceleration and passing lanes set up for the residential project now under construction.

At an earlier hearing before the planning commission, Kopelman reported that when he started to build, he had come across a second gas main down the length of his property.

The original site plans had provided for one gas main. He stated he couldn't build over it so he had to revise the site plans.

A residential project consisting of 144 two-bedroom units is slated for the area.

Seniors receive American flag

The Romulus Senior Citizens Club was presented with an American flag at the club's Feb. 23 meeting.

The flag was presented by Mrs. Nina Bodenmiller, president of the John M. Wahl Belleville Chapter 87 of the Women's Relief Corps. Dedication ceremonies were conducted by Mrs. Ruth Knysz, patriotic instructor of the John M. Wahl Chapter. She was assisted by Celia Renke, Hazel Miller, and the color bearers.

Ross Roy prexy speaks at J.A. finals

John S. Pingel, president of Ross Roy Inc., will be the keynote speaker at the Junior Achievement Best Salesman Contest, sponsored by the Sales-Marketing Executives of Detroit at the Sheraton Cadillac Hotel March 6 at 6 p.m.

Five Junior Achievers will compete in the contest, vying to see who will become the best salesman or woman in the Southeastern Michigan area. The five young people have been chosen from representatives from 25 J.A. business centers in the six-county metropolitan Detroit area.

Judging will be based on each contestant's approach, selling points, demonstration, knowledge of product and other selling factors as he or she tries to persuade "Customer" Joe Weaver, WJBK-TV personality, to buy his or her product.

For Wayne's Annapolis Hospital

Open heart surgery plan OK'd

A new phase in the continuing battle for more comprehensive health care will be launched soon at Annapolis Hospital in Wayne.

The Peoples Community Hospital Authority last Thursday night unanimously gave its blessing to an open heart surgery program which should begin within the next three to four months.

According to Dr. Karl S. Klicka, PCHA executive director, it is the "most ambitious program proposed for one of the PCHA hospitals to undertake since I've been here."

The new program is not a spur-of-the-moment proposal, but one on which many long hours of thought and preparation have been spent. Dr. Alan Chen, chief anesthesiologist at Annapolis, first approached Dr. Klicka, about the program last August.

Although Dr. Klicka admits to be "cautious" about the plan, following considerable conversation among members of the hospital's medical staff, the executive director felt the program had merit.

Two of the main figures in the open heart surgery program are Dr. Alfred Lui and Dr. Paul G. Firmschild. Dr. Lui, a member of Wayne County General Hospital's surgical staff, and Dr. Firmschild, a chest surgeon from Dearborn and a longtime member of the Outer Drive Hospital medical staff (PCHA hospital), will be the two doctors heading up the surgical team.

According to Walter S. Wheeler, administrator at Annapolis, Dr. Lui has been performing about two open heart operations per week at Wayne County General Hospital for the past 22 months, and has become renowned in this area for his highly successful performance of this type of surgery.

Dr. Firmschild has been performing open heart surgery at Harper Hospital in Detroit.

Wheeler feels a good indication of the quality of surgery performed by Dr. Lui's team is the fact that the University of Michigan furnishes WCGH with residents in surgery and encourages them to aid Dr. Lui in performing this surgery as part of their training.

The rest of the open heart surgical team will be comprised of Dr. Bernard Bercu, Dr. Omar Guevara, Dr. Luis Ruiz and Dr. Benjamin Son, all cardiologists, and Dr. Chen.

Finishing out the team will be an extra corporeal technologist, who will run the pump, and scrub nurses.

According to Dr. Klicka, Annapolis will not have the problem many general hospitals have that must maintain a surgical team which they only use once or twice a month. Klicka explained that the team at Annapolis will be paid for its services only for the days it is used.

He also explained that although special equipment required for the new procedure will probably run between $25,000 and $30,000, the hospital's women's auxiliary is "ready to offset the total cost."

Basically there is only one reason behind the idea to begin such a program at Annapolis - need. Wheeler has reported that a list of patients referred to Dr. Firmschild from the PCHA area over a 12-month period indicates there is a "genuine need for additional surgery of this type."

"There seems to be no question that some additional 50 or more of these procedures could be performed at Annapolis Hospital in any 12-month period," the administrator said.

Wheeler said one of the basic problems causing the backlog in potential surgical cases is the fact that the operation takes eight hours. The hospitals can only allot so much operating time for such surgery. This limits the number of operations which can be performed by surgical team at any one hospital.

"It appears that many more patients would be candidates for this procedure if operating time were available," Wheeler said.

There is another reason which points favorably toward Annapolis' decision to begin the open heart surgery plan. Wheeler has pointed out, in previous attempts to "sell" the idea, that many families find it "extremely difficult to divide time between visiting their loved ones in the downtown centers and taking care of responsibilities at home in outlying area."

"Expressways are not always the answer to patient and family conveniences. It is a fact that many times traffic is jammed to a standstill on these major arteries. Simple convenience for patients and relatives dictates that certain candidates for this surgery would be best served in the local hospital, provided trained teams and proper equipment are in evidence," Wheeler explained.

According to the hospital administrator, most of the patients who will be candidates for open heart surgery will be "principally from the PCHA area."

Spelling champ retains her title

The spelling bee champion at the Sumpter Elementary School has been announced.

She is Debbie Arquette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Arquette of 46027 Bontekoe St., Sumpter.

She will now participate in the district spelling bee to be held at the Junior High School on March 22. She will compete against other fifth through eighth grade students from area schools.

The runner-up of the school spelling bee is Terrence Fowler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jiles Fowler of 22239 Sumpter Rd., Sumpter.

Third place winner is Terry Templeman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Templeman of 46052 Bontekoe St., Sumpter.

WINS BEE AGAIN — Vanessa Hall (right), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hall of 17981 Sumpter Rd., Belleville, has won the Elwell Elementary School's Spelling Bee for the second year in a row. She is shown with Linda Bonanni, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bonanni of 20414 Wilmot St., Belleville, who won the runner-up spot in the contest.

Summerfield, Christensen are top spellers

Kelly Summerfield, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Summerfield of 12060 Craig St., Romulus, is fifth grade spelling bee champion at the Romulus Elementary School in Romulus.

Kelly won the 70-minute spelling contest with the word "ought." Susan Malkoff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Malkoff of 8436 Wahrman Rd., Romulus, was the runner-up.

The champion of the sixth grade is Kimberly Christensen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Christensen of 35921 Northline Rd., Romulus. She won the spelling bee with the word "manufacture."

Susan Hopson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Hopson of 12120 Schultz St., Romulus, was the sixth grade runner-up.

Mrs. Joy Lamberson pronounced the words and Mrs. Lenore Gaddy and Mrs. Marjorie Butler served as judges.

Teen-ager contest entries available

Applications are being accepted until March 7 for the Miss Michigan Teenager Pageant to be held April 21-22 at the Detroit Hilton Hotel.

Girls, aged 13-17 as of Sept. 1, 1972, are judged for their scholastic achievements, civic contributions, poise, personality, and appearance. There is no talent or bathing suit competition.

Judges from Michigan will interview each girl individually on the final day of the pageant. Senator Robert Griffin will be speaker.

Girls must be residents of the state of Michigan and U.S. citizens. There is no entrance fee.

Winner from Michigan and first and second runner up from the state will receive scholarships. The state winner will receive her expenses including food, lodging and round trip air fare to the national finals in Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 23-26.

Applications may be obtained by writing Official Certification Headquarters 126 Bunn Drive, Rockton, Ill. 61072.

Youth for Christ holds Ann Arbor rally

The Huron Valley Youth for Christ will present a youth rally at Ann Arbor Pioneer High School at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, March 4.

Featured at the shortened, one-hour rally will be speaker Billy Walker and the Dave, Bob & Mark Trio. Admission to the rally is free.

Following the rally in the recreation room at Pioneer High a "Pizza Prowl" will take place from 8:30 - 10 p.m.

The "Pizza Prowl" will feature music by Dave, Bob & Mark, New Jerusalem, Lonnie Hull and Doug Howell.

Admission to the "Pizza Prowl" will be $1, which will cover the cost of pizza and coke.

Founder of Rush Greenhouse dies

Peter Rush, 80, who first organized the Peter Rush Florist and Greenhouse in 1912, died Sunday at Nankin Hospital in Wayne.

Funeral services were from Lents Funeral Home in Wayne, followed by a Requiem Mass at the Holy Family Church in Inkster. Burial was at the Michigan Memorial Cemetery in Flat Rock.

Mr. Rush started the business at Michigan Avenue and Junction in 1912 and later it was expanded to three locations. The business moved to its present location at Van Born and Henry Ruff roads in 1935.

The business is presently being operated by his grandson, Edward A. Rush.

Born November 18, 1891 in Detroit, Mr. Rush is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Leona Langel of Detroit; a son, Navy Capt. Anthony Rush, M.D., 14 grandchildren and nine great grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by his wife Anna in 1968 and a son Edward P. Rush in June, 1971. Mr. Rush resided at 5650 S. Wayne Rd., Wayne.

Two girls are merit finalists

Two seniors from Belleville Senior High School have been named finalists in the 1972 National Merit Scholarship Program.

The students are Cheryl Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Davis of 11550 Wilson St., Belleville, and Carol Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Wilson of 42615 E. Huron River Dr., Belleville.

Cheryl has been accepted at the University of Michigan, where she intends to enter the School of Medicine.

Carol also has been accepted at the University of Michigan, where she intends to enter the School of Engineering.

A THOUGHT TO REMEMBER

BY HAROLD REDISKE, DIRECTOR

We all have emotions whether we are emotional or not. Love, hate, trust, pride, fear, resentment, sympathy, laughter, joy, sorrow and anger are only some of our emotions. At times, because of restrained inner emotion, we try not to show outer emotion.

For example, we can and should say words of kindness; we can and should express our love to loved ones. At times, because of shyness or pride, the words are not said. Pride or stubbornness, for example, break up homes when kind words could avoid it. In times of bereavement, kind words are often said but the words can not be heard by the one for whom the words would have meant a lot.

We can and should express affection when affection exists. Fancy words are not needed. Some people say they don't have to say such things because the loved one knows it anyway. Maybe so. Maybe not. Why risk it? We should never be reluctant or refuse to say the nice to hear things. We deepen our own sorrow when the words are said too late. That sort of sorrow is a hard to dispel emotion of our own making....

How state aid to schools is formulated

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is the first three parts of a series of articles by State Sen. William Faust concerning school financing in Michigan.

About 43.5 per cent of the cost of operating our public schools is met by state aid and about 3.7 per cent by federal aid. The largest share, some 52.8 per cent, comes from local property taxes.

We frequently hear property taxes being criticized as inequitable because they bear so little relation to the ability-to-pay of the individual taxpayer or taxpaying firm.

When our schools are forced to depend primarily upon property taxes, another type of inequity becomes apparent - the vast differences in the taxable resources available to the various school districts.

If a school district contains a large number of such high-valuation facilities as manufacturing firms and shopping centers, a comparably low rate of taxation may finance a child's education adequately. If the district contains little more by way of a taxable "base" than residential areas of moderately-priced homes - such as exists in Westland, Garden City, Wayne and Inkster - an extremely high level of taxation may not be sufficient.

School districts are generally compared in terms of state equalized valuation (SEV) per pupil. By this we mean the amount of property valuation available to be taxed for the education of each student.

The average Michigan school district has an SEV of more than $18,000. However, some districts are far less fortunate, with SEV's of $10,000, $5,000 and, in one instance, $2,098.

In our immediate area, virtually all four cities are below state average. Area school district SEV per pupil figures include: Inkster, $8,140; Garden City, $8,358; Cherry Hill, $10,186; Taylor, $11,781; Wayne-Westland, $13,060; Westwood, $15,942; Livonia, $18,898; Plymouth, $26,190.

On the other hand, fully 47 "rich" districts can boast SEV's of $35,000 or more. Two have SEV's of slightly more than $347,000. Yes, that's right, $347,000!

Welfare property taxes in terms of mills, or tenths of a cent per dollar of valuation. So each mill of taxation produces $35 in a $35,000 district and less than $2.10 in that $2,098 district.

In the two $347,000 districts, each mill levied produces $347 - more than 165 times as much as in the state's poorest district!

The legislature attempts to compensate for these inequities by giving poor districts larger amounts of aid and rich districts lesser amounts. The 1971-72 formula prescribes a per-pupil "net allowance" of $559.50 minus 14 mills for districts with SEV's of $17,000 or more, and $661.50 minus 20 mills for districts with lower SEV's.

This rather complicated formula produces the following in basic state aid per pupil:

$35,000 districts receive $69.50
$30,000 districts receive $139.50
$25,000 districts receive $209.50
$20,000 districts receive $279.50
$15,000 districts receive $361.50
$10,000 districts receive $461.50
$5,000 districts receive $561.50

However, this considerable variation in state aid fails to compensate for the differences in resources available to the individual districts. Inequities still exist, serious inequities! The average school district currently levies about 26 mills for operating purposes.

We aren't average! Wayne-Westland schools are about 38 mills.

Let's examine the total per-pupil revenue realized, state aid included when citizens in various districts pay exactly the same 26-mill tax on homes of equal value:

$35,000 districts receive $979.50
$30,000 districts receive $919.50
$25,000 districts receive $859.50
$20,000 districts receive $799.50
$15,000 districts receive $739.50
$10,000 districts receive $679.50
$5,000 districts receive $619.50

These inequities are even more glaring when examined from the reverse standpoint of how much property tax the various districts must impose to have the same amount of operating revenue as the average $18,000 district, which receives about $488.80 from a 26-mill levy and some $296.30 in state aid, for a total of $785.10.

$35,000 districts must levy 20.45 mills
$30,000 districts must levy 21.52 mills
$25,000 districts must levy 23.02 mills
$20,000 districts must levy 25.28 mills
$15,000 districts must levy 28.24 mills
$10,000 districts must levy 32.36 mills
$5,000 districts must levy 44.72 mills

In other words, it currently costs the average homeowner in a $5,000 district more than twice as much to support an adequate educational program as it does the owner of an identical home in a $35,000 district to support the same program!

A homeowner in a $10,000 district must pay more than half again as much as a home owner in a $35,000 district to provide a comparable educational opportunity for his children.

Where school construction is concerned, these inequities are multiplied many times over, since the local property tax is presently the sole revenue source for bonding and debt retirement.

It costs a home owner in a $5,000 district fully seven times as much to build a school as it does the owner of an identical home in a $35,000 district to build the same school!

This is the problem that has brought about increasing demands for school financing reform from educators, from legislators, from the general public and, more recently, from the courts.

Michigan ranks 41st

Like Michigan, all states except Hawaii support their public schools by combining financial aid distributed from the state level with property taxes levied within local school districts.

All such states have "rich" school districts and "poor" districts in terms of state equalized valuation (SEV), the value of property available to be taxed for the education of each pupil.

Recently, the National Education Finance Project ranked the 50 states according to the degree of "equity" or equality of combined state-local funding - found in their distribution systems.

Hawaii, which funds schools entirely from the state level and is in effect one single school district, ranked first with the highest score possible.

Michigan was ranked 41st. Only nine other states were believed to have school-financing systems less equitable than ours.

In preparing the study that led to this ranking, the various systems by which states distribute funds to local districts and determine the amount due each district were divided into four general categories.

1. The states of Utah and Wisconsin utilize what is variously called the "equalized SEV" or "guaranteed tax yield" system.

This was the basis of the so-called "Spencer-Ryan Plan" proposed here in 1970, and of the revised form of this plan presently being proposed by Representative Roy Spencer of Attica.

This system, which will be discussed later in detail, strives for equity - not in terms of equal dollars per pupil, but in terms of equal per-pupil returns to school districts making equal self-taxing efforts.

State aid is distributed to the districts in such a way that any given "local effort" tax level brings the same amount of money per pupil in all school districts, rich or poor.

For example, suppose all districts in Michigan were to be "equalized" at $30,000 SEV per pupil.

A $5,000 district could levy 20 mills of property tax, raise $100 per pupil locally and receive $500 in state aid.

A $25,000 district could levy 20 mills of property tax, raise $500 per pupil locally and receive $100 from the state.

Both would have exactly the same $600 to spend in educating each pupil.

The State of Utah, which utilized this system most completely, was ranked second only to Hawaii for equity by the National Educational Finance Project.

The State of Wisconsin, also basing its distribution of state aid on this system, however, was ranked 20th.

2. The states of Rhode Island, New York, Pennsylvania, Vermont, Massachusetts and Iowa use a variation of this plan that is called the "percentage equalizing" or "state aid ratio" system.

These states compute the state aid due each school district by comparing the SEV of the district with the state average and then allocating state funds in inverse proportion to the taxpaying ability of the district.

Of these states, Rhode Island was ranked third behind Hawaii and Utah. But Massachusetts was ranked 33rd and Iowa, 38th.

3. Delaware, North Carolina, New Mexico, South Carolina, Arizona, Arkansas and Connecticut use the "flat grant" system, distributing state aid on the basis of a certain amount per pupil and making no allowance for the SEV of the district.

This would appear to be the most inequitable method of all, since rich and poor districts receive the same basic funding.

Connecticut had the poorest equity rating of any state, but Delaware and North Carolina, using the same principle, were ranked ninth and 10th respectively.

4. All other states have a distribution system similar to that of Michigan - guaranteeing each district a certain amount of state aid or "gross allowance" per pupil, when a given degree of local self-taxing effort or "deductible millage" is levied.

Using this system, the states of Wyoming and Alaska were ranked fourth and fifth; yet the states of South Dakota and New Hampshire were ranked 48th and 49th.

In summarizing its exhaustive study, the National Educational Finance Project concluded that no state school aid system seen today (except for the total state funding method in Hawaii) is, in itself, any real guarantee of equity among school districts.

The study reached three general conclusions:

a. The larger percentage of school financing that comes from the state level, rather than the local level, the higher the equity ranking the state is likely to have.

b. It appears that a large number and variety of special and "categorical" grants from the state level usually detracts from financial equalization.

c. It also appears that a large number of local school districts in a state is a factor retarding the development of financial equalization.

As other states struggle with this problem, a continuing exchange of information will be helpful. But the unique nature of each state's school-government make-up will probably make it impossible for any jointly-evolved program to serve as model legislation for all.

Equal protection cited

On Aug. 30, 1971, the Supreme Court of California handed down a historic ruling on the question of "whether the California public school financing system, with its substantial dependence on local property taxes and resultant wide disparities in school revenue, violates the equal protection clause of the 14th Amendment."

The court's answer to this question can be summed up with the following phrase from the preface of the decision:

"We have determined that this funding scheme invidiously discriminates against the poor because it makes the equality of a child's education a function of the wealth of his parents and neighbors. Recognizing as we must that the right to an education in our public schools is a fundamental interest which cannot be conditioned on wealth...we have concluded...that such a system cannot withstand constitutional challenge and must fall before the equal protection clause."

Since that time, similar rulings have been made by a circuit court in Minnesota and a federal court in Texas. Legislators, educators and other concerned citizens here have been asking a question that is being echoed in practically all states, with the exception of Hawaii.

What do the recent court decisions mean for Michigan?

This question has a special urgency here, since the subsequent announcement by Gov. William Milliken and Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley that they have jointly initiated action to have the Michigan Supreme Court declare our school financing system unconstitutional in the same manner and for the same reasons.

Practically all of the determining factors in the landmark California decision (Serrano v. Priest) are paralleled in Michigan.

The inequities in per-pupil expenditures among local school districts are strikingly similar. In both states, those inequities are inherent in the very nature of the school financing system.

In California, 55.7 per cent of educational revenue comes from local property taxes - as compared to 52.8 per cent in Michigan. In both states, the balance is derived from federal funds and miscellaneous sources.

California distributes state aid to the local districts by means of a "guaranteed support" level that is completely comparable to Michigan's "gross allowance" and a "hypothetical tax" that works exactly like Michigan's "deductible millage."

By way of citing inequities, the California court noted that per-pupil expenditures in the state ranged from $612 to $1,414 in school districts containing both elementary and secondary schools in 1969-70.

In Michigan that same year, the range of per-pupil expenditures among kindergarten - 12th grade (K-12) districts was from $410 to $1,276. It has since widened to an estimated $500 to $1,500.

In light of the strong similarities, there can be little doubt that the logic of the California decision, if applied to Michigan, would necessitate a drastic restructuring of our school financing system.

It should be made clear that none of the recent court rulings "outlaw" or even condemn property taxes as a means of school financing. They merely condemn the inequities that result when property taxes are levied, at varying rates, in districts that are "rich" and "poor" in terms of taxable property or SEV.

In other words, if property taxes were collected uniformly throughout a state, and redistributed in an equitable manner to local districts, the practice would not be in conflict with any of the decisions.

It might be mentioned that considerable disagreement currently exists among educational legal experts, as to the exact implications of the court rulings. In general, there seem to be two basic interpretations.

One school of thought, arguing for the so-called "fiscal neutrality" concept, merely emphasizes the point that "the quality of a child's education" cannot be "a function of the wealth of his parents and neighbors."

Other authorities, arguing for the so-called "equal educational opportunity" concept, insist that a child's education cannot be dependent upon either the wealth of his parents...or their willingness to tax themselves to support education!

The difference between these two concepts is extremely important, as the legislature ponders pending proposals for school financing reform.

The first would permit the previously mentioned "equalized SEV" or "guaranteed tax yield" system, as it exists in Utah and as it is being proposed for Michigan by Rep. Roy Spencer. A subsequent article will discuss this proposal in detail.

The state would maintain "fiscal neutrality" by guaranteeing each school district the same per-pupil return on any given level of local taxation, but the decision as to what the level should be would remain with the local district.

On the other hand, the second concept would require the state to go beyond "fiscal neutrality" and guarantee each student a relatively equal amount of support for his education or a relatively equal program offering.

Local district determinations as to the level of taxes to be imposed for financing education would be either non-existent or very limited.

It can be hoped that the Michigan Supreme Court will clarify this controversy and will offer further judgment as to the degree of leeway that might be allowable in deviating from a strict compliance with either concept.

But clearly enough, Michigan's present system would be allowable under neither.

If our system were subjected to the same constitutional challenge, before any court utilizing rationale even remotely similar to that seen in California, Minnesota, and Texas, it too would fall before the equal protection clause of the 14th Amendment!

BEDROOM INVITES INDIVIDUALISM — This master bedroom added to a house built in 1900 gains warm personality from resawn cedar paneling, pitched ceiling covered with hemlock flooring. Glass panel door leads to deck added to front of house, door covered with cedar boards connects to original house. Closets have louvered wood doors for ventilation.

When decorating bedroom

Give personal tastes full rein

Personal tastes and furnishing preferences have full rein in the bedroom, even though the rest of the house may be more formally decorated to achieve an overall visual effect.

The bedroom should be pleasantly informal, particularly if it doubles as a sitting or sewing room, or has a desk for record keeping and correspondence. It also offers a haven for an electric gathering of treasured family furniture and an assortment of art objects, the best way to reflect personalism.

But many bedrooms evolve into conglomerations, crammed with useless furnishings and ineffective accessories, caused by failing to weed out accumulations as years go by and continuing to add the latest novelty or fad.

When a new master bedroom is added, or the present one redecorated, mixing the best of "early newlywed" with family treasures and some good new pieces should result in a comfortable, livable room.

One charming bedroom observed by this writer was added onto a house built about 1900 in a pleasant, wooded setting. The end wall has large windows and one of the room's doors leads to a deck added to the front of the house, to take full advantage of a valley panorama.

The walls are beautifully clad in resawn cedar 1x6-inch board paneling. Varying grain patterns and colors lend a relaxed mood to the room. Hemlock 1x3-inch flooring applied horizontally on the open pitched ceiling adds textural interest and visual depth to the room.

Ceiling beams are 2x6s and built of 1x12-inch boards with 1x2 inch side facings. 1x2 inch side facings. Fluorescent tubes hidden by this beam provide indirect lighting, and the absence of lighting fixtures frees space for a hanging metal sculpture candleabra.

A tall, narrow shelving unit is built onto the wall, with four shelves for books and favorite art objects, plus a small writing desk. A large closet has louvered wood doors for ventilation, and the door to other rooms of the house is covered with cedar boards matching the wall.

On home improvements

Here's the answer

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures
Q—Our house has one of those small cellars with a dirt floor. We have been in the house for seven years, but only recently has a musty odor invaded the cellar. How can we get rid of it?

A—A musty odor is a sign that mildew is present. Mildew is a growth that occurs in damp areas where there is no sunlight. To get rid of the odor, keep the area well heated and dry for a period of three or four days. Sprinkle some chlorinated lime over the dirt floor and let it stay for a couple of days. Sweep up the lime, then repeat the treatment. This usually will remove the musty odor, but it may be back after a period of time unless steps are taken to get rid of some of the dampness. One way to do this is to have an exhaust fan in one of the cellar windows. On a dry day, open a window as nearly opposite the fan as possible, then turn on the exhaust for a couple of hours. Doing this periodically on dry days should eliminate most or all of the dampness.

Q—I plan soon to put a 50-gallon drum into the ground to use as a dry well, filling it with large rocks. How deep should it be?

A—You should make a hole large enough for the drum, plus about one foot between the top of the drum and the surface of the ground. Be sure there is a solid top on the drum, made of concrete or heavy planking. Fill with dirt around the sides and over the drum top and pack tightly.

Q—I am putting up some galvanized downspouts at four locations around the house. I want to paint them, but seem to remember reading somewhere that new galvanized iron should not be painted until it has been washed with vinegar. Is this true or is it just an "old wife's tale"?

A—Regular household vinegar has been used for many years as a wash for galvanized iron which has just been installed. But it is now generally conceded that it may or may not accomplish the purpose of weathering the metal before it is painted. Sometimes it seems to work—that is, prevent future peeling of the paint—and sometimes it doesn't. It is better to let the galvanized surface weather naturally for six months before painting. Even better is to coat the galvanized iron with a primer of zinc dust or zinc oxide. Tell your dealer what it is for so that he can select the right kind for the job. After this has thoroughly dried, you can go ahead with the painting even though the galvanized downspouts are new.

Q—We have a large gilt frame that needs touching up in a few places. I'm afraid that regular gold paint won't be a good match. How can I get the proper color match?

A—Artist materials stores (and some hardware and paint stores) carry a gilt powder that can be used. It comes in various shades and you can probably find what you want.

(You can get either of Andy Lang's helpful booklets, "Wood Finishing in the Home" or "Paint Your House Inside and Out," by sending 30 cents and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Know-How, P.O. Box 477, Huntington, N.Y. 11743. Be sure to specify which booklet you want.)

IMPROVE YOUR HOME

Choice for flooring is virtually endless

If there is one frequently asked question which defies a specific answer, it is this: Which is the best kind of floor?

There just isn't any such animal. Each type of floor has its own characteristics. If you know what they are, you can make a good choice, depending on whether you are looking for anything in particular or whether you aren't interested in practicality but merely want what suits your fancy.

Although resilient floors—sheets and tiles—are enjoying a great wave of popularity in recent years, there are those who insist on nothing but wood, maintaining that it has a feeling of warmth unmatched by any other material.

Hardwood floors are the ultimate, among them oak, birch, maple, beech, poplar and even walnut, hickory, cherry and teak. Pine is the most popular of the softwoods. Flooring comes in thin or wide strips, squares or parquet pieces. The wider the boards, the more the tendency to expansion and shrinkage under certain weather conditions. Wood has a fine appearance whether given one of the surface finishes, such as varnish, shellac, lacquer or a synthetic, or one of the penetrating sealers.

In the resilient flooring field, there is a wide choice, the most popular being vinyl asbestos, which can be used anywhere in the house or on a concrete basement surface. The most inexpensive kind, asphalt tile, can be used below grade or above grade where it is not likely to be subjected to spilled liquids, especially grease and oil. Care must be taken not to use paste waxes which contain solvents.

Vinyl tiles and sheets are resilient, comfortable, stain resistant and easy to maintain. If you see wide differences in the prices of vinyl flooring, it's because some kinds are solid and some merely have vinyl veneers; also, some have high quality backings, some have cheap backings.

Cork tiles are quiet, very resilient and luxurious, but are susceptible to stains unless given some kind of clear finish, preferably at the factory. Rubber tiles are excellent to walk on, but show marks from furniture legs more than most other types. Cork, rubber and the old favorite, linoleum, which is easy to keep clean, should not be installed over concrete below ground level.

Add to this list such floors as seamless, stone, brick, ceramic tile, terrazzo and several other specialty types and you can see that the choice is almost endless.

Preference dictates heating conversions

Conversions of home heating systems are more often a matter of choice than necessity. Even at average costs of $1,000 or more, homeowners tend to improve house comfort when they find something better without waiting for their present heating system to wear out.

This is one of the conclusions drawn from a survey recently undertaken by the Edison Electric Institute, an association of electric utilities. The nine-city study shows that most conversion installations are made in relatively new residences: almost 50 per cent in dwellings less than 15 years old.

Most conversions were not part of other home remodeling projects. Cost for installing a new system and adding insulation averaged about $1,200.

The survey characterized these conversions as a "matter of choice," not need. A higher percentage of respondents changed "because they wanted a more modern system," than because "the old system was worn out." Homes with "preference" conversions were mainly owned by couples in the 40-plus group with children still living at home. About 15 per cent of the owners were retired.

Once the decision to convert had been made, 65 per cent said they did not even consider other alternatives, but made an immediate choice of electric heat. Reasons were: cleanliness (no soot or dust), controllability (individual thermostat control for each room), ease of maintenance (no pipes or radiators) and evenness of temperature.

College students learn government by doing

LEARNING BY DOING - Members of a Wayne County Community College political science class in Inkster's Milton Middle School discuss the merits of a bill proposed for the school's model national legislature by student Mike Boggus

By MIKE HENDRICKS

Political science college students are taking part in a simulated version of the United States Congress to improve their understanding of the mechanics of the federal government.

The program, conducted by the Wayne County Community College, includes five Saturday sessions of the model national legislature where the students are given an opportunity to play the role of congressmen: submitting bills, lobbying as well as wheeling and dealing to get their measures through.

The students have broken off into three factions representing the major political affiliations. The democratic left, which is the single largest group of students, has been effectively neutralized by a coalition formed by the eclectic center and the democratic right.

Among the students participating in the mock Congress are 11 members of Len Passant's government class from Inkster's Milton Middle School.

"What we are doing," said student Dorothy Anderson, "is learning by actually doing what is really going on, rather than watching it."

Student reactions range from a new and stronger faith in the structure of the federal system to a fear of what is really happening because of all the "wheeling and dealing."

Metro chamber launches drive

The Romulus Metro-International Air port Chamber of Commerce has launched its 1972 membership drive.

Chamber members starting with the executive board right on down will be contacting all business establishments, businessmen and women and interested parties to acquaint them with the functions and activities of the now 18 months-old chamber.

The chamber is having its general membership meeting on March 7 along with its yearly banquet at the Hilton Inn, located at 31500 Wick Rd., Romulus, just opposite the Detroit-Metropolitan Airport.

Tickets are available by contacting the chamber office, 36518 Goddard Rd.

Applications for membership can be obtained at the chamber office.

VAN BUREN TOWNSHIP NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

A Public Hearing on the proposed amendment to the Van Buren Township Zoning Ordinance, to establish an AP (Airport) zoning classification will be held by the Van Buren Township Planning Commission in the Council Room, 46425 Tyler Road, Van Buren Township, County of Wayne, Belleville, Michigan, on Wednesday the 22nd day of March, 1972 at 8:00 P.M.

A copy of the proposed AP (Airport) Zoning Classification is available at the Van Buren Township Planning Commission Office, 46425 Tyler Road, Van Buren Township, County of Wayne, Belleville, Michigan.

Van Buren Township

"It worries me," Kathy Persson, a young Dearborn student said. "I don't like the system. I just feel that corruption is too easy in our type of government."

Kathy, a member of the neutralized left, expressed some dissatisfaction with the way the system allowed her group to be "undercut" by the other two factions.

"It isn't fair at all the way these people have gotten together and cut the left out completely."

The winners disagree.

"No system is perfect," student Dorothy Dziobak said. "But this is the most perfect system of all."

"You are working with people, and it's not so much the system."

"There's just no other way you could do it," Stella Sherb, a member of the middle group said.

In addition to the weekend session in the national model legislature the students hear guest speakers involved with government. They have listened to members of the press discuss their methods of extracting information from the government. Mel Ravitz, Detroit Common Council president, has also been a guest.

Nursery class resumed

In Hannon Road Elementary School

The Huron School District has scheduled a pre-kindergarten class at the Hannon Road Elementary School in New Boston for this semester.

Fifteen four-and five-year olds are enrolled in the class, which is held on Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 8:45 to 11:30 a.m.

Mrs. Shirley Havenstein of New Boston, a trained paraprofessional, is directing the program. She has the assistance of volunteer mothers who work with the children.

Some of the activities the children are involved in are listening to records and stories, playing various games, coloring, acting out nursery rhymes, number concepts, physical activities, such as running, jumping, hopping, skipping, throwing a ball and size and shape concepts.

Field trips are planned for the students later in the semester. "This is a period in the life of the child where he is exploring the things about him. The experiences he realizes during this time will aid him in adjusting to a kindergarten routine," says Luke Wegienka, assistant superintendent in charge of federal programs for the Huron School District.

This program is financed by federal monies through the Title One grant. Both the federal and state government is urging local school districts to operate programs for pre-kindergarten children during the school year. Students in Huron township have not had an opportunity to attend pre-school classes since the Office of Economic Opportunity withdrew its services four years ago.

Wegienka said it is unfortunate all pre-kindergarten children cannot be served and gain the experience of pre-school programs, but because of a limited budget "we are restricted to the number of children we can serve adequately and effectively".

"We wish to express our sincere thanks to Mrs. Betty Johnson from the Huron Health Committee in assisting the mothers in getting the students immunization shots," said Wegienka.

Volunteer mothers are an important part of the pre-kindergarten program. If anyone is interested in working with Mrs. Havenstein, please call the school office at 753-4421.

Troop 830 patrol wins second place

The Eagle patrol of Boy Scout Troop 830 of the Hayti Elementary School area won second place in the Huron District "Artic Trek" held at Willow Metro Park on Jan. 29, Troop Leader Denver Proffitt announced.

Nearly 500 scouts competed in the day-long event, which included competition in skills of ice rescue, survival, compass lashings, fire building and sled building. The Eagle patrol was second place top scoring group.

Robert Smith, Eagle patrol leader and Donald Meyer, assistant leader, were invited along with scoutmaster Proffitt to attend Huron District's Round Table meeting to receive their Blue Ribbon and prize, a fold-away charcoal grill.

Other members of the winning patrol are James Haislip, Eddie Bennett, Eddie Abbott, Tony Suessine and Dewain Edwards.

The Tiger Patrol won a blue ribbon of achievement, honor and excellence. The Apache Patrol, made up of new scouts, received a ribbon for participation and achievement.

The winter awards make the second major win for the troop. The Tiger patrol captured a second place honor during last fall's camporee.

Girls' Place opens

On Saturday, March 4, a new activity center called The Girls' Place will open to Belleville girls in grades 9-12.

The center to be opened from 10 a.m. to noon will be self-directive by the girls' interests, but the women of the Junior Women's Study Club will organize the materials and instruct in chosen projects such as macrame belts, crocheted vests, decoupage plaques, antiquing, knitting, needlepoint, ecology concerns and room decorating.

CARROLL RIGHTER'S horoscope
Tomorrow's forecast from the Carroll Righter Institute

General tendencies: You can accomplish a great deal today with a most cooperative attitude in which you show a willingness to act with tact and diplomacy in relationships you have with others. You can now approach whatever tasks and duties that face you with precision.

Aries (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Taking definite steps to meticulously carry through with your obligations is most important now. Do not leave yourself wide open for criticism from one who opposes you. Relax tonight.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20) Place more emphasis on your regular work now and do those things that will gain the cooperation of co-workers. Proper exercise can add to present vitality which is at a low ebb.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) You have to choose your words carefully at home so that you do not increase discord that exists there at this time. A few compliments in the right direction can help. Smile more.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) An ideal day to do the shopping for supplies that you have been neglecting. You have an appointment that does not appeal to you, but assume the right mood and all is fine.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) New ideas you have could add to present income, so go ahead with projects you have in mind, in business and socially. Ask a business expert for good suggestions. Follow them.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Showing good pals that you appreciate them makes your personal life more satisfying today. There are various ways through which you can please them, but don't be extravagant.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Start making preparations that are necessary to make new ideas operate properly. Your hunches require good judgment before you can follow them with any degree of success.

Scorpio (Oct. to Nov. 21) You are able to contact a good friend now who can help you in making an important decision. Social fun can be attained, but make sure you seek only the best. Plan for the future.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Stating aims to bigwigs helps to gain your cherished wishes. Make sure you pay an important bill. Stop wasting time on something that is not important or worthwhile.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) An ideal day to delve into whatever is new and worthwhile. A novel activity you engage in is headed for success. Not a good day to start out on a trip. Make plans instead.

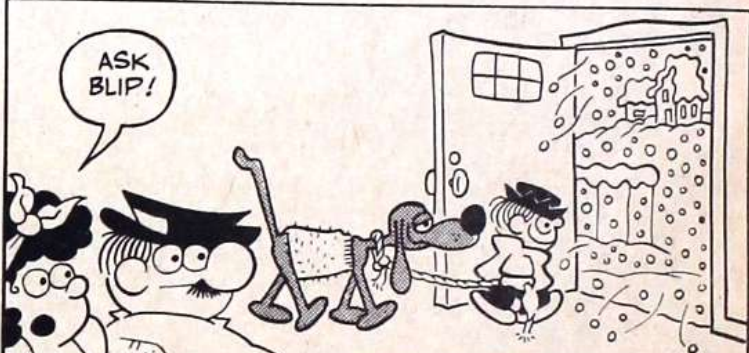

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Study your bills well so that you pay the correct amounts. Look to an individual with more experience than you for the data you need. You need not work so hard. Relax.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Put those ideas to work that will help you to meet obligations with more speed and less trouble. Contact those persons you want to know better. Show that you are conscientious.

If your child is born today he or she will be one of those precise young people who wants everything in proper order and who will also expect associates to be exact in manner. Make sure you give the kind of education that will help bring out such qualities. A good chart for teaching, big business, philanthropic institutions, and nursing. Sports is a must. "The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely to up YOU!
